

Heat Wave Grips East And South

Cold Weather Still Prevails in Many Areas in Western States

By The Associated Press
The late January preview of spring in most of the eastern and southern states appeared nearing an end today.

A blanket of cold air from the chilled midwest spread across the Ohio river valley and pushed eastward toward the Atlantic seaboard. Some of the cold air was expected to dip into the gulf coast and send temperatures from their lofty summer readings back to near seasonal levels.

The cold weather still gripped wide areas in the western half of the country. Temperatures moderated over the plains and some of the north central states but they remained far below zero in many areas. Montana, one of the coldest spots in the current icy weather, was getting out of the deep-freeze and an end of the sub-zero blasts was in sight.

30 Below Zero
But the mercury was at a biting 30 below zero in North Dakota and between 20 and 30 below over that state and Minnesota during the night. In the Dakotas and Minnesota only one weather bureau station, Rapid City, S. D., with 9 above, reported a reading above zero. The low at Minneapolis was -21.

The cold air already had dipped into Arkansas and other parts of the south. Freezing rain fell over northern Arkansas and glazed highways. There also was some freezing rain on the northern fringe of a narrow belt of precipitation from New York and Pennsylvania south westward across Kentucky to the coastal region of Texas.

Freezing rains were forecast for the Columbia River Gorge in the "bad weather spot" in the Pacific northwest. Snow fell as far south as southern Oregon. Packed snow and ice made travel hazardous.

Below freezing again was forecast for southern California's citrus areas but warmer weather was in prospect later today.

Foiled the Animals
But mild weather east of the Appalachian mountains again yesterday continued to amaze the people and even foiled the animals. Record readings for the date and for the winter season were set in many cities.

In a Philadelphia zoo, ground-hogs, turtles and snakes—not calendar readers—came out of hibernation. Girls took sunbaths on rooftops.

Bees buzzed around a honey-suckle bush in full bloom in Towson, Md. Japanese beetles, a mid-summer pest, appeared near Frederick, Md.

The New Jersey State Health Department warned by readings in the 70's, issued a list of hints on "how to avoid heat prostration." The weather bureau's bulletin indicated the release was premature with a forecast of temperatures in the mid 40's today.

Record in Boston
All-time winter heat records were set in Boston yesterday when the mercury climbed to 72. But it was expected to be down in the 30's in the New England region today. Some rain in the coastal areas was forecast.

New York City, reporting a record breaking January mark of 70.5 also was expecting lower readings today.

In Baltimore, the top mark was 79 and Philadelphia reported an all-time January high of 73.2. Washington basked in 79-degree heat and Atlanta's 77 was five degrees above the previous record for Jan. 26.

But indications were that the high readings will tumble. In Chicago, where a record high of 67 was set Wednesday, the mercury had dropped nearly 60 degrees in 40 hours and was heading for the zero mark.

Crowd at Water System Program

Between four and five-hundred Pettis county farmers gathered inside the Sedalia Armory to attend an all-day meeting of the first annual Water Systems Day program, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with Central Missouri Electric Cooperative, Inc., and many business dealers in town, who furnished exhibits of various water equipment. The program was carried off as previously announced with a panel-discussion on well drilling, followed with a number of speakers, who were experts on water. At 2:30 o'clock, a colored movie, entitled, "Running Water On A Farm," was presented. Leland LaVelle, manager of the R.E.A. in Sedalia, said many farms have recently received electricity in Pettis county, and more are being connected with service every day, which will provide the farms with the power to operate water appliances, in addition to aiding the farmer with other modern conveniences. Young Polish Writer Speaks To Civic Club

Presents Topic on Russia as an Attorney to Jury

Zygmunt Nagorski, a young Polish writer, spoke before the Sedalia Knife and Fork club members in the Ambassador room of the Bothwell hotel Thursday night, at which time the brilliant speaker filled in some of the background information desired by many members, in his topic "Education Behind the Iron Curtain."

In presenting his topic, the speaker took the part of a prosecuting attorney and counselor for the defense, while the audience acted the part as the jury in the case of a young Russian boy, who was educated in the present Russian era of its system of education, ideology and politics.

The speaker further related the boy turned his parents in to the government at the age of 18 years, because his parents were holding back more grain than was required by the government.

Up to the Jury
After presenting the case, the speaker asked the audience, the jury, if the boy should be convicted?

In his deep talk, the speaker asked the audience, "Are we going to stop Russia by war, or are we going to act by appeasement and allow her to spread Communism all over Europe and finally to this country?"

After Mr. Nagorski got through talking, he aroused such an interest, that Knife and Fork club members participated in their longest question and answer period since the club was formed. They kept the speaker on the floor an hour after he concluded his interesting speech.

Mr. Nagorski is a former director of the Polish Press Agent, an officer of the Polish government-in-exile and is one of the best informed men in the United States on what goes on behind the Iron Curtain. He is an author of several books and has written countless newspaper and magazine articles.

Carrier Boy Lost Ten Dollar Bill Down Town Saturday

Larry Lynch, thirteen year old Democrat carrier boy, who lives at 1405 South Warren avenue, is hoping someone may have picked up a ten dollar bill he lost downtown last Saturday and may return it to him. Ten dollars means a great deal to the boy and if anyone did find it he'd certainly appreciate having it back.

Boy To Parkers

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—(AP)—It's a boy for the Larry Parkers. Mrs. Parker, better known as Betty Garrett, the actress, gave birth yesterday to seven pound, 14 ounce Garrett Christopher Parkers. It was the first child for the couple, married five years.

The baby was a Caesarean delivery. Both mama and son doing fine, said the hospital.

Dates For Ozark Empire Fair

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Ozark Empire Fair, August 12-18, will be the site of the state Jersey Dairy cattle show again this year. O. E. Jennings of Springfield, president of the Missouri Jersey Cattle club, said today.

Flying Saucers To Decorate Women's Hats

PARIS, Jan. 27.—(AP)—It looks as though we're going to have "flying saucers" whether the scientists pooh-pooh them or not. Just leave it to the ladies.

In 1951 women's hats still promise to be as startling as anything the adon boys can dream up.

Come spring, for instance, women the world over will be offered the latest creation by leading French Modiste Gilbert Orcel—the "flying saucer."

It's not just one fantastic hat. It's two huge flat berets, one piled on top of the other with the lower one protruding to form a peak.

Inspect Final Drawings For Brochure

Noel Tweed, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, John F. Zander, secretary, and Maurice Hogan went to Kansas City Thursday where they inspected the final artist drawing of the proposed Knob Noster site for the United States Air Academy. The drawing was made by H. F. Slaughter, chief artist for the Holland Engraving company, of Kansas City, of which Lou Holland, a member of the Air Academy committee recently appointed by Governor Forrest Smith, is owner.

The drawing, 16 by 30 inches, is made in true perspective and from a mosaic aerial mapping photograph and a contour map of the actual area, and gives an accurate view of the site as would be shown by a photograph taken at the same observation point.

Show Park Area
This panorama shows the landing strips and parking space for aircraft at the Sedalia airfield in true relationship with the adjoining Knob Noster State Park area. The drawing denotes in some degree the particular beauty and expeditiousness of the site. An observer will readily note the accessibility by rail, automobile and air.

The picture is now in the hands of a color photographer for the purpose of making full color reproductions which will be used in the brochures prepared by the Missouri Division of Resources and Development and the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce. The brochures are now complete except for the drawing which will be placed in the front of the brochures following the introduction. They will then be sent to all officials and engineers working on the project.

The artist's drawing will be brought to Sedalia next week for Sedalians to see.

Reunion Delayed

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 27.—(AP)—A reunion of a father and son who had not seen each other in 23 years was delayed today.

Otto Wilhelm Bassecke, 77, Helmsstedt, Germany, was to have arrived here last night by plane. On hand to meet him were the son, W. O. Bassecke, Stockton, Mo., cheese plant operator, his wife, son and daughter.

Showman's Home Raided; Carry Off Safe

Furs And Jewelry Valued at $100,000 Reported Missing

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Bandits raided the fashionable home of showman Billy Rose last night, toted off a safe, furs and jewelry valued at $100,000 but missed $250,000 in other gems being worn by Rose's wife, former swim champion Eleanor Holm.

Miss Holm learned of the theft early today when she returned from the theater wearing jewelry valued by her husband at a quarter of a million dollars.

"I'm glad baby had her war paint on tonight," said Rose in putting the $250,000 price tag on Miss Holm's necklace, a bracelet and a ring of shimmering diamonds she was wearing. They had attended the premier of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" starring Katharine Hepburn.

Tied Butler Up
Police said three men shouldered their way into the Rose town house at 33 Beekman place late last night, tied up the sole occupant—a Negro butler—and carted away the jewelry-laden safe and furs.

Rose, a newspaper columnist as well as cab owner, said the bandits left undisturbed a $500,000 collection of paintings, and $75,000 worth of antique silver.

James McDonald, the butler, said he answered a knock at the door, and was told by one of the three men that they had come to deliver a package. McDonald said he admitted the trio, as he had been told to expect a package.

One Drew Pistol
One of the three then drew a pistol, he said, while the other two went to a third-floor bedroom and brought down the safe. The three then took McDonald to the basement, trussed his wrists and ankles with cords, and left. He called police after freeing himself.

The stolen safe was about two

Congressmen Wistfully Talk Of Getting 40-Hour Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Congressmen already get pensions when they retire. Now they are talking wistfully of getting a 40-hour week while they work.

The matter came up at the hearing the Senate-House economic committee is holding in its study of the price of steel.

Alva Phelps, president of the Oliver corporation, a Chicago farm equipment company, was explaining how the steel increase affected his business.

Rep. Rich (R-Pa) was doing the questioning. Suddenly Rich asked:

"How many hours do you put in each day?"

"We put in a 40-hour week in the office, just the same as they do in the plant," Phelps said.

"First time I ever heard of an executive who could get by on eight hours a day," said Rich, who runs a woolen mill in addition to his duties as a congressman.

Half Fortune In Jewelry Stolen, is Back

Mysteriously Appears on Police Station Doorstep

MARSEILLE, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Half of the Aga Khan's stolen fortune in jewelry — $420,000 worth of the gems — turned up mysteriously on a police station doorstep last night.

French police, looking for the last six months for Tommy gunners who held up the Moslem leader on a Riviera highway last August third, found the valuables in a package outside the ninth police brigade station here after an anonymous telephoned tip-off.

The police first estimated the find at $280,000 in value. Three experts, hurriedly summoned, raised the appraisal to $420,000.

Investigators announced no theories as to who tossed the mysterious package. Presumably it came from one of the holdup gang, possibly alarmed by a series of arrests recently.

Nine Arrested Last Week

Nine men were arrested last week for alleged participation in the daring highway holdup in which the fabulously wealthy Moslem potentate and his wife lost gems worth between $700,000 and $850,000.

A widespread police search has been underway for other members of the gang believed to have hidden the loot.

The police did not immediately announce how much of the jewelry was in the recovered package. A total of 40 pieces had been stolen.

Investigating authorities have said they know the jewels still were in France, probably in the hands of a Corsican named Paul Lecca. A nationwide manhunt has been underway for Lecca.

The fabulously wealthy Aga Khan, father-in-law of film star Rita Hayworth and his wife, The Begum, were robbed as they drove away from their Riviera estate near Cannes.

Halted Automobile

Four men, armed with Tommy-guns, halted their automobile on the open highway and seized the Begum's jewelry. The couple was enroute to Deauville to visit Miss Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Kahn, the Aga Khan's son.

Among those arrested was a French citizen of British parentage, George Lindsay Watson, whom the police described as the "finger man" in the case. He has been charged with "complicity in robbery."

Police have said they believe two members of the gang were killed by their confederates.

On the paper-wrapped package was written: "Open only in presence of M. Saccotte." Marcel Saccotte is the examining magistrate in the case concerning the arrested men.

Had Buried Loot

The robbers at first had buried their loot at a villa close by the scene of the holdup at Le Cannet, near Cannes.

Some of the men now in custody said that for days after the holdup — while police were combing bars and waterfront dives from the Italian border to Marseille — the jewels lay buried in the garden.

Police have said they believe one member of the gang — Roger Senadnej — and his girl friend were, later killed by the gang because Senadnej was too talkative. There has been no confirmation of this, however.

State Highway Commission Committed to Gas Tax Law

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Missouri's highway commission formally committed itself today for Gov. Forrest Smith's four cent gasoline tax law.

It said the law — which goes before the people in a referendum vote April 4—is needed to ease the highway department's financial pinch. Under the present two cent tax, it said, the department was $962,626 in the red at the end of 1949.

"We have studied the new road law with great diligence," the commission said in a formal statement. "Some have said it would turn state road funds over to county courts. That is not true, the law has no such requirement."

"Our state constitution provides that the state highway commission shall expend and administer all state road revenue. The state highway commission will continue to administer all state road funds as provided by law."

"Your state highway commission believes the proposed law is meritorious and assures the people of the state that, if they approve this law, the state highway department can and will—

"(1) Improve and modernize the main state highway system; (2) extend the supplementary (farm-to-market) roads; (3) extend the construction of urban highways in cities; and (4) build 'state rural roads' in each county of the state."

The commission's stand was made known in "a statement to the people of Missouri," dated yesterday. Officials indicated it would be widely distributed.

After showing the department was in the red almost a million dollars at the end of 1949, the commission noted "it will be able to meet this deficit only by curtailed construction."

Reporter Gets Comments on The Weather

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 27.—(P)—For man-in-the-street comments about the frigid Pacific Northwest weather, the Spokane Chronicle went to these people yesterday and got these opinions:

Fred Winter — "I've had enough."

Mrs. Harry Blizzard — "It's too cold."

Arthur Snow — "I don't like it."

Mrs. O. Coldsnow — "It's horrible."

Mrs. Frank Freeze — "It's plenty cold but we like it."

Courageous Lion Trainer

BURBANK, Calif., Jan. 27.—(P)—The spark of courage still glows today in the eyes of diminutive Mabel Stark, renowned trainer of wild animals.

She plans to keep right on mixing it up with tigers such as the one which mangled her arm last Monday.

In Burbank hospital yesterday, Miss Stark told of her plans for a brief appearance with one or two of her cats at a march of dimes benefit next week.

"I won't try to do too much until I get my strength back," she remarked. "Maybe just a few simple tricks."

And then there's a 32-weeks contract with a circus she is anticipating near the end of March. Miss Stark, who has been thrilling circus audiences for years, was taking a tiger cub from its mother's cage when the tigress, 7-year-old Pasha, suddenly sprang and sank teeth and claws into Miss Stark's arm.

"I really didn't have too bad a time of it," the animal trainer said. "I've always kept myself in good condition. I have to . . . to keep ahead of the cats."

'Missouri' Still Stuck in Mud

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 27.—(P)—Heavy weather in Chesapeake bay halted salvage operations on the grounded battleship Missouri today.

Northerly winds ranging up to 40 miles per hour in gusts forced salvage experts to call off their plan to begin removal of the Big Mo's ammunition. The schedule had called for the offloading of 1,400 tons of ammunition today and 850 tons Monday.

A salvage tug had left the naval base this morning with beach gear to be used in the February 2 attempt to free the 45,000-ton warship, but returned to her pier because of the heavy weather in Chesapeake bay.

Weather forecasters reported at 8 a. m. the northerly winds would continue for eight hours.

Naval spokesmen said the above normal tides that would result from the northerly winds would come too early to be of assistance in refloating the Missouri from the sand shoal on which she has rested since running aground January 17.

Plane Missing

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 27.—(AP)—A United States air force C-54 with 34 passengers and eight crew members aboard has been unheard from since yesterday. R. C. A. F. officials announced today.

The four motored plane was en route from Elmendorf Field at Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont., and last reported its position at 5:09 p. m. C.S.T. over Snag, Yukon territory. Snag is 1,300 miles northwest of Edmonton.

N.A. Allies Sign Aid Agreement

Final Move Before Weapons, Materials Are Sent to Europe; Defense Plan Secret

By John Scali

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—The United States and eight North Atlantic allies signed agreements today that will govern the flow of $1,000,000,000 worth of American arms to western Europe's defenses against possible Russian attack.

It was the last-step-but-one before guns, tanks, planes, ships and raw materials begin moving under the aid program Congress approved last year.

The final step is President Truman's approval of the secret master defense plan worked out last month by military chiefs of the 12 Atlantic pact countries. That is expected momentarily.

The master defense plan will be kept secret. But the state department made public the texts of the separate aid agreements made with each nation when they were signed by the ambassadors of each at the department.

Amount Not Mentioned
The amount of American military aid each nation is to get was not mentioned.

But it is known that the largest share of the American weapons and raw materials will go to France.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—President Truman approved the master defense plan for the North Atlantic area today. His action turned loose the full $1,000,000,000 voted by Congress to bolster western Europe against any Russian attack.

The president set the gigantic military aid program into motion with an order authorizing Secretary of State Dean Acheson to start guns, tanks, planes, ships and raw materials rolling to eight north Atlantic allies.

He took the historic step shortly after the eight countries signed the agreements that will govern the flow of arms abroad.

Mr. Truman, in a statement, declared that the military program is vital to giving Europe the confidence that the fruits of their recovery efforts "would not be immediately lost in the event of aggression."

Countries signing agreements in addition to France are Britain, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Denmark and Norway.

The language of each country's agreement varies, but the main commitments are identical.

These provide that all countries will pool their defense plans to defend western Europe against any attack and that no arms furnished them will be turned over to any other nation "without the prior consent" of the United States.

All Take Pledges
All pledge to "take such security measures as may be agreed" to "prevent the disclosure or compromise of any classified (secret) military articles, services or information."

Spelling out the conditions for American help was the primary purpose of the agreements.

But they also pledge that the United States can get raw and semi-processed materials from the eight countries "upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon."

Such a provision is included, for example, in the agreement with the Belgian government which controls some of the world's richest known supplies of uranium ores, needed to make atomic bombs.

To Foster Peace
Each agreement says that "economic recovery is essential to international peace and security and must be given clear priority . . ."

Also prominent in each agreement is an article noting that each government desires "to foster international peace and security within the framework of the charter of the United Nations."

On this point, the Allies reaffirmed "their determination to give their full cooperation to the efforts to provide the United Nations with armed forces as contemplated by the charter and to obtain agreement on universal regulation and reduction of armaments under adequate guarantee against violation."

The signing came about three months later than the schedule anticipated when the plan was worked out.

Man 141 Years Old

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(P)—Moscow radio last night reported the discovery of a 141-year-old man in a mountain village in Soviet Zerkajian, near the Iranian border.

The broadcast said the villager, Mahmud Aivador, heads a family of 120, including great-great-grandchildren.

The youth choir will meet at the church for practice Sunday evening at 6:30.

Brothers' Keepers

Ever-recurrent is the question Cain raised long ago: "Am I my brother's keeper?" When Christ was on earth He was at pains to proclaim the essential truth that no man may live entirely to himself. He spoke much of the charity due to others as neighbors. In using the word neighbor, He made no distinction between rich or poor, wise or foolish, good men or bad.

It requires a deep religious integrity constantly to exemplify this universal brotherhood. As members of the human family, we cannot in conscience ignore any call for sympathy, encouragement or help from any one of God's creatures. But too many fail fully to live up to this supreme obligation.

For instance, there are those who, though not altogether lacking in kindness, are indifferent or neglectful toward their broad social obligations. Poverty breeds almost unnoticed in slums behind the mansions of the wealthy. Then there are the good-hearted men who will open their purses readily to anyone who comes to them for help. But the same individuals may be unmoved by appeals for the needy in some far-off place. Their charity is real, but it tends to be myopic and insular.

That men should neglect or ignore the physical sufferings of others is bad enough. But when they spurn their neighbors in their spiritual needs, tragedy becomes multiplied. The righteous man becomes a hypocrite when he condemns or casts scorn upon sinners. All too frequently the sinner is left seeking vainly for even one neighbor from whom he can find the word of kindness that may lift him out of the pit of folly and remorse.

True, there are priests and ministers to whom the burdened sinner can turn. But sin can be a prison from which an unfortunate may find it difficult to break loose. The drunkard lying in the gutter has to be lifted up and helped before he can be persuaded to kneel in sorrow before an altar. The delinquent must be taught to see the error of his ways before he is ready to seek spiritual rehabilitation.

Whether it is a matter of giving physical or spiritual assistance to others, all men have a common, ceaseless obligation. To remain blind or indifferent to this obligation—in whole or in part—means ignoring the second great commandment: "Love Thy Neighbor." Responsibility cannot be sloughed off by asking Cain's question. We are all committed to the task not only of winning our own salvation but helping others to do the same.

Sunday School Lesson

Christian Gospel is for Everyone By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

If we could transport ourselves back through 20 centuries, and see just as it was the world and the environment in which Jesus and His little band of disciples laid the foundations of Christianity and the Christian church, we should understand something of the wonderment of that beginning, and the seeming miracle of how the church took root and grew.

As it is we see the events through 20 centuries when Christianity and the church are worldwide, when the church even in its outward aspect has become an institution of prestige and power and when the name of Christ, in profanity or in sincere love and devotion, is on the tongues of countless millions.

We can hardly conceive how small, in an outward sense, was the beginning, in an environment little larger than the smallest American state, in a country itself almost insignificant in size among the great and powerful empires of that ancient world.

The fact that Palestine was situated always in the center of those great empires—Egypt, Assyria, Babylon, Persia, Syria, Greece, Rome—gave the Holy Land an actual significance far beyond its size. But the real significance of Palestine was that it was the Holy Land, the land of strange and sharp contrasts, of good and bad, of evil Herods and devout shepherds, but the land in which above and beyond all tragedy was the glory of pre-eminence in spiritual values and religious experience.

The marvel and the explanation of the growth of Christianity are seen in the teaching and mission of the Master, and in the faith and vision that He inspired in His disciples. As if He might have been speaking from Rome, the center of world power, instead of from villages insignificant in the eyes of Rome, He announced His mission as worldwide. He commissioned His disciples to go forth and preach the gospel to all the world, even to its very ends and he assured them that everywhere He would be with them.

But what was even more significant was the fact that this gospel was for every creature—that in a world in which class distinctions were strong, and the great mass of humanity was in some form of slavery or bondage. The universality and power of that gospel, also, soon became manifest. It was not long until there were saints in Caesar's household (Philippians 4:22), and almost from the beginning slaves found a new inward peace and freedom in their outward bondage. Master and slave, rich and poor, Jew and Gentile, all had their place in that fellowship in Christ, where there were no distinctions, but Christ was all and in all (Colossians 3:11).

That was the miracle of Christianity. "If any man be in Christ Jesus, he is a new creature" (II Corinthians 5:17). Any man! That is the universality, radiance, and power of the Christian gospel. If we modern Christians have lost any of its radiance and power, we must recapture the faith and the vision. In the faith and vision in which Christianity began is the sole secret and way of its continued growth and power.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES "LOVE" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 29, 1950.

Golden Text: Jeremiah 31:3. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us." (I John 4:12) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The depth, breadth, height, might, majesty, and glory of infinite Love fill all space. That is enough! Human language can repeat only an infinitesimal part of what exists. The absolute ideal, man, is no more seen nor comprehended by mortals, than is his infinite Principle, Love. Principle and its idea, man, are coexistent and eternal." (p. 520)

Newlyweds Honeymooning After Glittering Reception

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—The capital's newest No. 1 newlyweds, Maj. John Ernest Horton and Drucie Snyder, were honeymoon-bound today, somewhere in Florida.

Horton, a White House military aide, and his bride, the daughter of Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. John W. Snyder, left here last night after a glittering wedding reception.

Their exact destination was a secret.

Their five o'clock wedding was attended by more than a thousand guests, including President and Mrs. Truman. Also present were Vice-President and Mrs. Barkley, whom the Hortons succeeded as Washington's No. 1 newlyweds.

More than 2,000 guests jammed the Chevy Chase Country club for the wedding reception. The reception line lasted two hours.

American champagne bubbled from a five-tier fountain. There was a three-tier wedding cake on a draped stand in a flower-banked bower.

There was dancing to samba and rhumba music.

Kissed by Truman

Mr. Truman gave Drucie a kiss. Mrs. Truman gasped a little, and kissed Major Horton.

Margaret Truman, the president's daughter, was one of the bridesmaids. She missed the bride's bouquet. It was caught by a friend who is already engaged. Drucie's wedding dress, of off-white Japanese silk, trailed a 10-yard fan-shaped train. Her bridesmaids were all in green.

President Truman wore an Oxford grey afternoon suit. Mrs. Truman wore a pink jacket, a black dress and flowered spring bonnet.

Spectators outside the Washington cathedral where the wedding ceremony was performed cheered and called out "Hi, Mr. President," when the president arrived.

After the double-ring ceremony, from which the word "obey" was omitted, Mr. Truman stood on the cathedral steps, smiling arm in arm with Drucie and her husband, posing for pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman stayed about 20 minutes at the reception. Somewhat later the Hortons slipped away for their wedding trip.

Optimisses to Sponsor Play On March 1st

The Sedalia Optimisses Club will sponsor the March 1st presentation of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," by the Pettis Players. The Players voted to accept the Optimisses' offer of sponsorship at their regular business meeting on Wednesday night at Broadway school. Tickets are being printed and will be in the hands of the Optimisses in the near future.

W. D. Bruce was appointed stage manager of the production by the president, Maurice F. Hogan, and under Mr. Bruce's direction will be the promoters, Miss Marie Fritz and Mrs. Edw. G. Ringen, and the make-up committee, Mrs. Leo Bopp and Mrs. Bob Wall. Mr. Hogan will be in charge of properties, assisted by Mrs. Otis Wiley.

Program Next Month

On February 16th, the Players will present a program at a meeting of the Smith-Cotton Parent-Teacher Association, to be directed by Mrs. Otis Wiley. Scott Webber, Theodore Gardner, Otis Wiley, Frank Evans and Jack Meyers will present a one-act play, and Mrs. Theodore Gardner will give a specialty act.

The co-directors of the three-act comedy now in rehearsal, Mrs. John Metcalf and Michael J. Bogutski, were given a rising vote of confidence and support by the membership at the conclusion of the business meeting.

Rehearsal of the second act will be held on Friday night at Broadway school; the third act on next Wednesday, February 1st, and the entire play on Friday, February 3rd. The next regular meeting of the club membership will be on Wednesday, February 8th.

Pleasant Green P.T.A. Meeting

The Pleasant Green P.T.A. met at the school house, January 16, with a short business meeting. A short program was given by Mrs. Scott and pupils.

They sang "Old Black Joe" and played on the band instruments, "The Yankee Doodle March" and "Busy Bee March."

Mrs. Meile Templeton led those in attendance in group singing. The meeting closed with a chili supper and social hour.

Throng At Rites To Mayor Sermon

Rev. and Mrs. H. U. Campbell, of 315 West Fourth street, returned home Thursday evening from Independence, Mo., where they attended that afternoon at 2:30 o'clock funeral services for his brother-in-law, Mayor Roger T. Sermon, of that city who died late Monday.

More than 2,000 persons filled the Memorial building for the funeral services. They included Gov. Forrest Smith and other state, county and city officials.

President Truman, Sermon's World War I buddy and close friend, was unable to attend. The President's brother and sister, J. Vivian Truman and Miss Mary Jane Truman were present.

Dr. J. L. Marshall, retired Christian minister, spoke from the text: "Greater love hath no man that he lay down his life for his friends."

"From the time of early manhood to the day of his passing Roger seemed to have been prompted by that philosophy as he understood it," Dr. Marshall said. "He began by serving his country early. He came back to his home town and began serving it."

"What he accomplished speaks for itself." The Rev. Harold M. Hunt, pastor of the Independence First Baptist church, of which Mayor Sermon was a member, gave the scripture reading. The closing prayer was by Dr. Martin H. Keast, of the First Methodist church which Mrs. Sermon attends.

Dr. Marshall said it was the largest funeral he has seen during his ministry in Jackson county.

Sermon died of a heart attack Monday at the age of 59. The Memorial building was built during his first administration as mayor in honor of World War I dead.

Members of battery A, 129th field artillery, commanded by Sermon in the war, sat in a reserved section.

Several thousand persons passed the casket as it lay in state during the forenoon. Flowers

Explanation of Part of the New Wage-Hour Law

By Norman Walker

(Last of three articles on the new wage-hour law)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—The new wage-hour law made a great many changes in coverage of workers. Who's now covered? Who isn't?

The law still says that, generally workers are covered if they are engaged in commerce between states or with foreign countries—or if engaged in producing goods for such commerce.

Being "covered," such workers must get paid at least 75 cents an hour. Also, they must get time and a half pay for hours worked extra after 40 in a week.

But the law specifically says that certain large groups of workers are not covered. Those exempt include workers in government and agriculture, domestic servants, seamen and fishermen.

Exemptions The government exemption applies to all public workers, city, county, state and federal.

The agricultural exemption applies to those engaged in farming, dairying, and raising livestock. Agricultural processing is generally exempt, if done within the "area of production."

Fish cannery workers, formerly exempt, now are under the minimum wage, but not the overtime, provisions of the law. The same is true for airline employees.

The exemption is continued for executive, administrative or professional workers and outside salesmen—as defined by the Wage-Hour Administration. But the administrator has just changed his definitions.

A worker now is exempt as an executive if he gets $55 a week—instead of $30—and if his primary duty is of an executive nature. Administrative and professional workers are exempt if they get $75 a week—it was $200 a month—as long as their primary duty is administrative or professional.

Rule Changed

Various detail and service establishments are exempt from the law, but the rule has been sharply changed. Now a retailer won't come under the law just because some of the things he sells within a state are later carried over state lines.

The Wage-Hour Administration is still permitted to get special minimum rates, below the 75-cent an hour level, for learners in an industry, and for messengers, apprentices and handicapped workers.

Newspapers, daily or weekly, having less than 4,000 circulation are now exempt. Formerly only weekly papers with less than 3,000 circulation were exempt. Newsboys are also exempt.

Other changes exempt taxicab companies and telephone exchanges serving fewer than 750 telephones.

Exemptions for railroads, steamship lines, oil pipelines, and local transportation companies are continued in the new law.

The new law sets up certain restrictions on the use of child labor. There are exemptions here too. But first, what are the new restrictions?

Ban On Employing Children

These impose, for the first time, a direct ban on employing children under 16 in nearly all industries, and those under 18 in hazardous industries.

Formerly, the only ban on child labor was a penalty for moving goods in interstate commerce within 30 days after they were made by child labor.

The Wage-Hour Administration said some lumber companies, for instance, could employ minors cutting logs in the woods and then just hold the logs for 30 days before starting an interstate shipment. There was no penalty.

Now an employer can be fined $10,000 and sent to jail for six months for employing minors. Some exceptions to the child

Have Bonded Baby Sitters

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27 — (P) — Bonded baby sitters? Why not?

Those are the questions of Paul P. Connoles, manager of the St. Louis office of the Missouri Employment Service.

It was Connoles who announced recently that the state government was going into the baby sitting business for the first time. He has 200 sitters at work now.

And he says they have received high praise from the clients they have served, at the rate of between 50 and 75 cents an hour.

He explained the bond feature is to be included to set at rest the fears of parents who want to labor employment ban:

Newsboys making deliveries to the consumer; minors employed in agriculture outside school hours; minors in radio, television, motion pictures and the theater; and minors employed by their own parents or guardians except in hazardous occupations.

The exemption for minors working in agriculture outside school hours has been changed somewhat. Under the old law's wording a school could legally excuse minors from classes for farm work. Now as long as their school is open, these minors must attend classes

Worried Miner Kills Himself

CARMICHAELS, Pa., Jan. 27.—(P)—Frank Starzyk, 34-year-old striking soft coal miner, brought home one day's pay for his last work at a Robena mine and told his wife, Frances:

"It's a shame to bring home such a small amount of money. I'm no good to you, or to our three children, earning such a little bit of wages."

His wife tried to cheer him up, but he remained depressed. Yesterday morning, Starzyk—employed by the H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Co.—was missing from his bed.

Mrs. Starzyk found his body hanging from a basement rafter. Charles Haines, Green county coroner, said Starzyk "a World War II veteran—had tied a rope about his neck and stepped off a barrel."

Yinger Must Return to State

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—Ronald Yinger, father of the "mid-century twins," must come back to Missouri to serve his prison term, Gov. Forrest Smith decided today.

The governor signed papers asking Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to extradite the 22-year-old Yinger as a parole violator.

Smith said he acted in order to prevent the parole system from breaking down. He cited a report of the Missouri Board of Probation and Parole which said:

"There are 1,263 probationers and parolees in Missouri. If rules were not enforced, what would restrain many others from writing worthless checks and absconding? Parole is a grim business. The board's first duty is to society and regulations must be enforced."

Yinger was identified as a Missouri parolee after his wife gave birth to twins in New York one in the closing moments of 1949 and the other a few moments later in 1950.

Wife, Money Gone From Car

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—(P)—Darrell Webb of Dexter, Mo., told police last night he suspects foul play in the disappearance of his wife and $3,100 from their parked automobile here.

Webb, a southeast Missouri coin machine dealer, said his wife disappeared while he was transacting business at a novelty company about 3 p. m.

In the car he said he found a note saying, "Be back in a minute."

But the writing, Webb insisted, was not that of his wife. Nor did she have reason to leave, he added.

Webb said his wife, Alice, was 20 years old — an attractive brunette, five foot-two inches and weighing 100 lbs.

Lawyers Open Conference

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—Forty-six committees of the Missouri bar started their annual midwinter conference with a luncheon today. Their goal is to study and modernize all phases of legal procedure.

One committee with Chief Justice L. M. Hyde of the Missouri supreme court as chairman, is expected to discuss ways of speeding up litigation.

A dinner is scheduled for tonight. The meetings end tomorrow.

New President Farm and Home

N. T. Paterson, vice president of the Farm and Home Savings and Loan Association of Nevada, Missouri, today was elected president of the association. He is to succeed E. H. Busiek, who resigned due to ill health.

N. T. Paterson

Mr. Paterson, who is 59 years of age, has been identified with Farm and Home activities for nearly thirty-one years, having started with the Kansas City agency of the association in June of 1919. A year later he went to St. Louis and opened and managed the Farm and Home agency there until called to the home office in the capacity of sales manager in 1937. In 1941 he was elected a vice president.

At an early age Mr. Paterson showed an inclination toward salesmanship and business management. As an example, after working on a ranch for some time, he ran a general merchandise store at Red Lodge, Montana where he had gone in 1907 after graduating from Michigan Military academy at Orchard Lake, Michigan. After about a year he accepted an offer to join an insurance firm in Kansas City as a salesman.

Young Paterson had been in the insurance business only a few months when he felt the urge to serve his country in the great World War then going on. He became recruiting officer in Kansas City for Battery D of the 129th Field Artillery, later commanded by Harry S. Truman, now president of the United States.

OBITUARIES

Miss Mayme Miller

Miss Mayme Miller, 60 years old, of California, Mo., died at Latham Sanitarium on Thursday morning following a long illness. She had been in the hospital since New Year's day.

Miss Miller was born in Shiloh community on January 29, 1889, the daughter of the late J. P. Miller and Mrs. Mary Jane Miller of California, Mo. She was graduated from the California high school, the Warrensburg college and did graduate work at the University of Missouri and a college at Aberdeen, S. D. In 1918 she went to White River, S. D., to teach and in 1921 went to the Philippine Islands where she taught in the province of Luzon for four years returning home by the way of Egypt, the Holy Land, Switzerland and France. She was elected county superintendent of schools on her return to White river and served in Maletta county in that capacity for eight years.

Last July Miss Miller was operated on in Rapids City, S. D., and in August returned to California to make her home with her mother and sister, Mrs. N. J. Inglis.

Surviving besides her mother and sister, Mrs. Inglis, is another sister Mrs. Charles Schaefer of Rapids City, S. D., and two brothers Dr. J. P. Miller of Booneville and Y. E. Miller of Centertown.

The body is at the Bowlin funeral home.

Sister Ursula Missler

Sister Ursula Missler, aged 80, of the Precious Blood order, for 41 years a teacher at Sacred Heart school, died Sunday at Dayton, Ohio, where the mother house of the religious order is located, friends in Sedalia have learned. The news came to Mrs. Joseph Booth, 603 West Third street, from her brother, Father Bernard Condon, St. Mary's, O. Sister Ursula is remembered by many Sedalians, having taught the primary grades when in Sedalia. She had been 65 years in the religious order and left Sedalia about 15 or 20 years ago.

Louis Meyer

Louis Meyer, 78 years old, of Cole Camp, died at 11 o'clock Thursday night at Bothwell hospital where he was admitted on January 16.

The body was taken to the Renz funeral home at Cole Camp.

Elmer S. Burnett

Elmer S. Burnett, 66 years old, died at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night at his home, 1505 South Missouri avenue.

Mr. Burnett was born July 20, 1883, east of Ottumwa. He was a retired carman for the M. K. T. Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth, of the home, one sister, Mrs. Lon Bryan; one brother, Will Burnett, both of Ottumwa and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, two sisters and two brothers.

Mr. Burnett united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church at the age of 15.

Funeral services will be held at the McLaughlin funeral chapel at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. Roy L. Bowers, pastor of the First Methodist church, to officiate.

Palbearers will be Ernest and Alfred Schlobohm, Fred Pfunder, George Burnett, Sherman Whiprecht and Fred Brummett.

Mrs. C. D. Demand will have charge of the music.

Burial will be in the Smithton cemetery.

Curtis Dee Edmonds

Graveside services were held at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon at the Windsor cemetery for Curtis Dee Edmonds, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edmonds, of Lincoln, who was born January 24, at Bothwell hospital and died there Thursday. The Rev. Garrison of Windsor officiated.

Surviving besides his parents is one brother, Darryl Lee.

David F. Edmonds

Funeral services for David F. Edmonds, 79 years old, who died at the Lakeside Rest Home at Warsaw Thursday morning, will be held at the Ewing funeral home at 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon instead of 2:00 o'clock as originally scheduled.

Rev. Virgil Smith of Brunley, will officiate.

Interment will be in the Memorial Park cemetery.

Mr. Edmonds was born at Murray, Ky., February 16, 1870, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Edmonds.

In 1907 he was married at Salem, Mo., to Miss Vina B. Pace, who survives.

Also surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Elaine Kirkpatrick, 319 North Stewart avenue, Sedalia, with whom he and Mrs. Edmonds had resided of recent years until they went to Warsaw a few

Some do not Understand the Meaning of an Air Academy

"The women have the wrong idea on the proposed Air Academy," said a man bursting in recently on a very serious conversation on the same subject being held at the Chamber of Commerce office. "They think it is an air base."

"But they couldn't," exclaimed somebody, "Not after all the publicity."

"O, but they do," insisted the man, "and they don't want it. They have daughters and they don't want it."

"Why, it would be one of the best opportunities in the world for the girls of this community," pointed out one of the men. "The best young men of the country would attend the academy, they would be appointed by their congressmen and would receive the appointments only on their high standards."

"And it would bring really big social events to the community, under proper chaperoning, too," put in another.

A third young man with two pre-school age daughters was smilingly dreamily by this time and commented: "Yes, and by the

W. Kirkpatrick, Sedalia.

Mr. Edmonds had been a member of the Church of Christ for many years.

The body is at the Ewing funeral home.

Charles R. Shelton Services

Graveside services for Charles R. (Billy) Shelton, 21 years old, son of the late E. L. and Selia Goodnight Shelton, who died at Marshall Thursday morning, will be held at Crown Hill cemetery at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning with Rev. H. U. Campbell, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist church, to officiate.

The body is at the Gillespie funeral home.

Mrs. M. C. Berry

Mrs. Alice R. Berry, 83 years old, widow of M. C. Berry, died January 23, in Los Angeles, Calif., following a stroke suffered December 24, according to word received by Mrs. Pinkney Miller, 1403 West Fourth street. Mrs. Berry was a former Sedalian but has resided in California a number of years.

Surviving are two sons by a former marriage, Albert and Regal Rockett, of Las Angeles, Calif., both executives in the movie industry.

Mr. Berry, a Missouri Pacific engineer, died from injuries received in a wreck at Pleasant Hill many years ago and a son Edgar Berry was killed in an automobile wreck in California several years ago.

Held For Higher Court

Daniel "Jum" Jennings, Negro, arrested recently on a charge of selling marijuana, appeared before Magistrate W. M. Ilgenfritz, Thursday evening, and waived his preliminary hearing. Jennings was bound over to the action of the Pettis County Criminal Court.

He is being held in the county jail in default of bond.

Letters Issued

Letters of administration in the estate of Michael Burns McGinley, who died February 18, 1949, were issued, this morning, by Judge A. M. Harlan, of the Probate Court, to Miss Margaret McGinley, 625 West Fifth street. Miss McGinley is a sister of the deceased.

"I made a talk before a women's civic club recently and they were very much in favor of the academy," said one of the group.

"But there are few mothers in that group," someone said.

"Yes," went on the man who had brought up the subject, "It is the church groups, that's where my wife got it. And we should talk to the P. T. A. groups, too. They just don't understand, and we need the support of the women."

Should Prove Facts

Surely most of the women of Sedalia and surrounding communities are well enough informed to know that we are after an Air Academy instead of an air base. But when one person, man or woman, tells something about anything and says emphatically that they have all the inside information and know that they are facts, that is the time to stop listening, unless they have something to prove those facts.

What West Point is to the Army, what Annapolis is to the Navy, this Air Academy will be to the Air Forces.

Conference Group Named

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—Samuel Marsh named a 19-member executive committee today to plan Missouri's participation in the Midcentury White House conference on children and youth next December.

Marsh, head of the state department of public health and welfare, is chairman of the state committee appointed recently by Gov. Forrest Smith. On the executive committee, which will hold its first meeting next month, are:

Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, Mgr. John J. Butler, Dr. Margaret Gildea, Mrs. Jules Kopp, Mrs. George McCalpin, Mrs. Delphine Weismann and Dean Benjamin E. Youngdahl, all of St. Louis;

Mrs. Winship Chick, Rabbi Samuel M. Mayerberg and Jack P. Whitaker, Kansas City;

James A. Davis, Dr. Sherman D. Scruggs, Mrs. H. Emmett Slusher, Jefferson City; Rev. O. V. Jackson, Rolla; Miss Alice Pittman and Ruben T. Wood, Springfield; Francis Smith, Joseph; Dr. Jeanette Gruener and Fred V. Heinkel, Columbia.

Factory Closes a Week

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—International Shoe Company's Main street plant here was to close today for a week to let sales clout up with production. About 300 workers are affected.

George Davis, manager of the local employment security division office, said the shutdown would bring the number of factory workers out of jobs in this area to about 1,000.

The company announced previously its Bolivar street plant here would close about Feb. 1.

No New Loans

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 27.—(P)—The Household Finance Corporation will make no new loans in Missouri after tomorrow.

One of the largest small loan companies operating in the state, the firm said it was taking this action because it could not operate at a profit under the 1945 Missouri constitution, which provides that all lenders be governed by a common law. A rate of interest at six per cent and eight per cent by contract is set by this law.

To Head Agricultural Society

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 27.—(P)—U. L. Coleman, Marionville, Mo., was slated to become the next president of the Missouri State Horticultural Society.

He was recommended for the post by the nominating committee, which also suggested John Bell, Booneville, for vice president and W. R. Martin, Jr., for reelection as secretary treasurer.

If elected, Coleman would succeed J. Ed May, Gray's Summit, Paul Stark, Jr., Louisiana, and G. E. Storm, Grain Valley, were elected directors.

Top Earnings For Bethlehem

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(P)—Strikes in the steel mills and coal mines, may have held back the steel industry in recent months. But they couldn't keep the number two steel producer, Bethlehem, from making record earnings. How did Bethlehem do it?

There are several factors. Chairman Eugene G. Grace gives most of the credit to the better facilities the company has built since the war—$328 million worth so far. And the company plans more, to increase its capacity, and to increase its efficiency.

Other observers recall that Bethlehem was the first to sign with the steel workers, and the first to get back into production after the October strike. It has built its rate of output up to 95 per cent of capacity. Grace says it would be hitting 100 per cent if more coal were being dug.

And on the earnings side, Bethlehem had to kick in fewer new dollars on its pension plan settlement. Its terms with the workers are about the same as in the case of other steel companies. But since Bethlehem already had a pension plan, it merely added some more benefits. The new benefits, consequently, did not make as big an additional drain on its treasury as some other companies felt, who had to start from scratch in handing out pension benefits.

Kemper Plays Here Tonight With Tigers

Conference Tilt Will Start at 8 p.m. At Smith-Cotton

The Smith-Cotton Tiger cagers will shoot for their sixth CEMO conference victory tonight at 8:00 o'clock, when they challenge the Kemper Yellowjackets on the Smith-Cotton high school court.

The Kemper high school quintet makes the conference trip to Sedalia today still burdened with ten defeats in its eleven starts, five of them at the hands of CEMO opponents.

Their lone win was against the Missouri Military academy, but the Colonels edged the Jackets in the return game by one point on their home court. Another defeat was added by the Hannibal Pirates at Kemper last Tuesday, when the cadets went down 49-31. However they played the best game of the year so far, roaring back to a halftime 19-18 after trailing by nine points at the quarter and even recapturing the lead. The Tigers have won 13 games this season against two losses, both to the Hannibal squad by two point margins.

Team Slowly Improves
Coach Shackelford of the Kemper squad, has been bemoaning the lack of a steady and experienced postman all season and also the lack of experience of the team as a unit, but apparently his prediction of a better offense and improvement in shooting has partly come true in the last two games the team has played.

Since the Sedalia Tigers defeated the Yellowjackets at Booneville on December 16, by a score of 53 to 27 (incidentally Kemper's worst defeat this year) no opponent has reached the 50-mark again.

The high scorer for the Yellowjackets is Danny Wells, returning letterman forward, who has averaged about ten points per game this season in eleven games. Guard Bob Brown, a newcomer to the squad, has been outstanding as a ballhawk and defensive player. He has few points to his credit, but has an uncanny ability of breaking up opponent offensive maneuvers.

The Smith-Cotton starters tonight will be Morgan and Ruffin, forwards; Holst, center and Brown and Walker, guards. A practice game between the "B" squad S-C boys will start at the high school about 6:00 p. m.

Quail Pointers Poise For a Second Judging

SHUQUALAK, Miss., Jan. 27—(P)—The National Field Trial club's derby championship went into overtime today.

Six prize quail pointers were poised for a second try at the crown after judges decided yesterday that the 32-dog field failed to turn up a top-flight performance.

The six pointers and owners included: Shady Lady O, owned by Irvey Ownbey, Springfield, Mo.

The six pointers laid down the best in a series of disappointing hunts held over the derby's normal four-day period. All of them may not show in the runoff. R. A. Greer of Dayton, O., one of the judges, said "If the first race turns out to be exceptional that will end it."

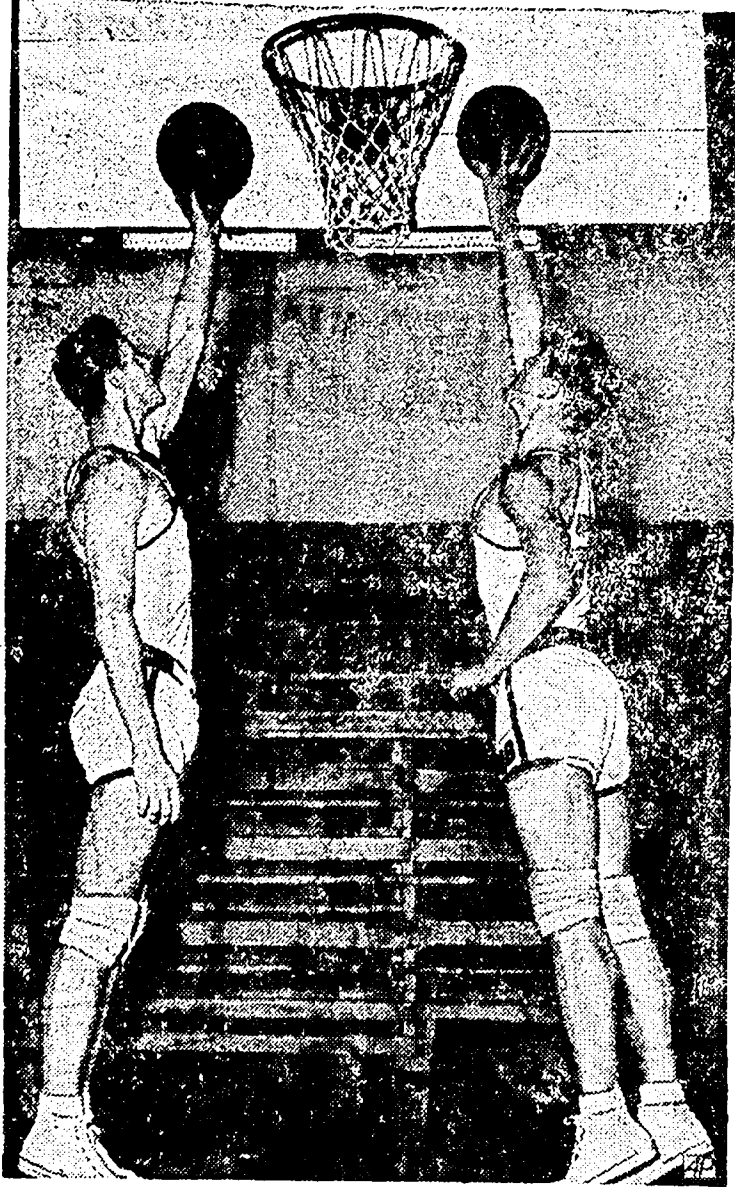

The National's free-for-all will start after the derby is decided. The free-for-all is open to all age dogs. The derby is limited to two-year-olds.

Spanish vs. English

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(P)—Recent tests show how much Americans of Mexican ancestry prefer to go on speaking Spanish. The tests were made with soldiers of the Ninth Service Command who could not read English. Many could not speak it, but were learning in order to stay in the Army.

All spoke Spanish, reports Dr. William D. Altus, psychologist at Santa Barbara College of the University of California. Some could read Spanish although they had never studied it in school. Nine per cent of those who had never been out of this country were fully literate in Spanish, and 39 per cent were partly so although completely illiterate in English and unable to speak it. This seemed to be true regardless of how many generations their ancestors had lived on American soil, reports Dr. Altus.

Last of Fourth Round in Tourney Of the Optimists

The last of the fourth round of the Sedalia Optimists basketball tourney was played off at Washington school Thursday night. In the first game the Optimists West met the Methodist team. The final score of this tilt was 68 to 10 in favor of Methodists. The Sedalia Democrat Carriers and the Optimists East met in the second contest of the evening with the Carriers winning 30 to 26.

The second game was the highlight of the evening. The Carriers had the height on the Optimist East and lead the Optimists the entire game. The half time score was 14 to 5, favor of the Carriers. High point men for the Carriers were Dawson Reese with 9 points and his teammate Vernon Steffen with 8. High pointers for Optimist East were Case and Miller with 8 points each.

The Carriers, by winning this game maintain their tie with Sacred Heart. Both have won 4 and have lost none.

The first game was very loose. Played with the Methodists grabbing the lead in the opening minutes of the game and retaining it all the way.

High pointer for the Methodists was O'Bannon with 29 and Dillon followed up with 28 points.

Officials were: Referee, Hank Williams, scorekeepers, Ted Phipps and Paul Mines. Timekeeper was Carl Ballinger.

Monday night the tourney will move back to Mark Twain to open the first part of the Fifth round. The Optimist West will meet the Baptists and the Optimist East will meet the Methodist team.

Then the latter part of this round will be played at Washington on Thursday night. Game scheduled for the night are: Sedalia Democrat Carriers vs Sacred Heart and at 8:30 The Sedalia Capital Carriers vs Episcopal quintet.

Marlene Bauer Still Paces Golf Tourney

A Stern Test For Her in Today's Round

By James F. Fowler
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27—(P)—Marlene Bauer today faces her sternest test thus far in the Helen Lee Doherty's amateur golf tournament when she meets Marjorie Lindsay in the third round of championship play.

The tiny, 15-year-old Midland, Tex., sensation continued her blistering pace yesterday as she scored a lopsided 7 and 6 victory over Claire Doran of Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., ten years and many tournaments senior to the petite Texan, yesterday eliminated Margaret Gunther of Memphis, Tenn., 5 and 4, after making the most spectacular shot of the day and carding one under men's par for five holes on the back nine.

2 Strokes Over Men's Par
Marlene, who stands five feet, two inches and wears a pink ribbon atop her brunette hair, was just two strokes over men's par after 46 holes of competitive golf.

In the second round match yesterday she turned 5 up after carding a one under women's par 37.

Marlene's 22-year-old sister, Alice, withered under the sizzling putting pace set by Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Texas, and was eliminated from the championship flight, 3 and 2.

Most Crucial Match

The Marlene Bauer-Lindsay match is regarded as the most crucial for the 'teen-ager. Miss Lindsay found the going tough the first day but her one over par 39 on the front side and her fine back nine play ranked her among the chief contenders.

Miss Lindsay's tee shot on the 146-yard par three 11th hole only eight inches from the pin for a clutch birdie two was the finest golf shot of the second round.

The field will be narrowed to four semi-finalists today. The finalists play 36 holes Sunday.

Bradley Walloped Tulsa in M. V. Conference Tilt

By Ted Meler
NEW YORK, Jan. 27—(P)—Kentucky and Bradley, both beaten in their last games, rebounded last night.

Kentucky, ranked fourth in this week's Associated Press basketball poll, invaded Cincinnati and drubbed Xavier 58 to 47. Kentucky had lost to Notre Dame on Monday.

Bradley, ranked sixth, walloped Tulsa, 64-45, in a Missouri Valley conference game at Peoria. Bradley had lost to Detroit last Saturday in a major upset.

Halftime Tie
Xavier held Kentucky to 23-23 halftime tie, but sophomore Lucian Whitaker started hitting in the second half and Kentucky pulled away.

Tulsa took a 6-1 lead over Bradley, but the Braves went ahead, 17-7, then pulled away in the second half after Tulsa crept within 31-26. Bradley's Paul Unruh was held to three field goals and five free throws for 11 points but Bill Mann came through with seven double-doubles and a foul for 15 points.

Undefeated St. Bonaventure ran its string to 10 straight by upsetting Niagara, 52-48 at Olea, New York.

Five Second Victory
Dayton (O) university, which had been bidding for national recognition, suffered its third straight defeat in bowing to Muskingum, 71-68. Dayton led by 12 points with five minutes left, but the Muskies rallied to tie the score with two minutes to go, a field goal and a free throw by Bill Ruby in the final

Cage Games at S-H Tonight

The Sacred-Heart Gremlins will tussle with the high-powered Hughesville quintet in a basketball tilt on the Gremlins' home court tonight starting at about 8:30 o'clock.

Preceding the varsity clash will be a "B" contest between the two schools to start at 7:00 o'clock.

In the first Sedalia-Hughesville meeting, the Hughesville boys handed the Gremlins a 49 to 19 defeat. The Hughesville team boasts one of the best cage teams in this area, having won first place in at least two tournaments this season.

Hughesville brings with it one of the really standout players in this section in the person of the tall center Das Conway, who will probably be the biggest headache for the Gremlins.

The Gremlins, playing their biggest schedule to date, will have a record of eight wins and eight defeats going into the Hughesville clash.

Citation In Defeat By A 15-to-One Shot

Miche From Argentina Wins By A Neck

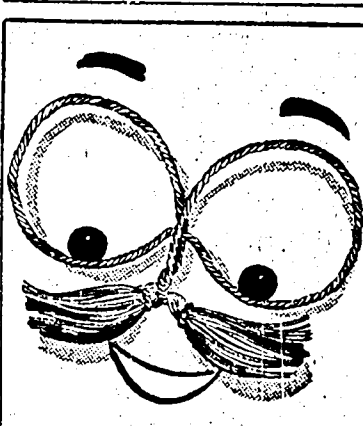

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 27—(P)—Mighty Citation's come-back campaign hit a snag yesterday as the great triple crown king of '48 bowed in defeat to a 15-to-one shot from Argentina.

Miche, a velvety grey from the land of the Pampas, pinned the defeat, the third in 31 trips to the post, on the Calumet Cannonball in a close, thrilling, head-to-head duel down the stretch at the tail end of a six-furlong battle.

It was Citation's second trip to the post after a 13-month layoff and he was the heavily favored idol as he went to bat in what appeared to be a mere tune-up for the bigger races to come at Santa Anita Park.

Citation and his rider, Steve Brooks, quickly found they were in for trouble—trouble that was actually sensed in the air all afternoon as 23,000 fans turned out to see the feature of the day. The time was a fast 1:10 4/8. The real trouble struck as they hit the wire, with Miche the upset winner by a neck.

Third in the six horse field was another rank outsider, a recent graduate of the claiming ranks in California, Huon Kid, while durable on trust, Spring Star Royal Blood and Double Jay brought up the rear.
The time on a fast track was fast for six furlongs: 1:10 4/8, and the victor, masterfully ridden by Jockey Gordon Glisson, paid off handsomely at $30.20, $4.80 and $3.20.
Citation paid $2.40 and $2.20, and Huon Kid, $4.10.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round
Taft Silences T-H Critics
By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Senator Bob Taft has just shown himself a real miracle worker—this time by pulling wires inside the Democratic party. Taft would be the last person expected to dictate a Democratic report on the Taft-Hartley act. But that is essentially what he did behind closed doors of the Senate labor committee. Though the Democrats have the votes to say what they please in any Senate labor report, Taft managed to milk the vinegar out of a report criticizing the Taft-Hartley law.

Word by word, comma by comma the Democrats gave in to Taft until he slashed the original, 49-page report critical to his act down to sixteen pages which weren't critical at all. Two Democratic senators, Jim Murray of Montana and Matt Neely of West Virginia, put up a fight against Taft. But even they backed down in order not to antagonize Republican support for a $135,000 appropriation to continue investigating labor-management relations.

Focus on South
The original report won't be released to the press, but this column has obtained a copy. The most important section chopped out by Taft charges that "industrial unionism (in the South) has lagged far behind other parts of the country."

"Desire for union organization has been successfully resisted by a substantial number of employers," declared the uncensored version. "Terrorism and intimidation, often resulting in violence, it still reported in some cases, though this tendency is thought to be on the decrease. On the other hand . . . organized labor feels that an employer determined to resist union organization can do so successfully and remain substantially within the law, that an increasing number of attorneys have developed expanding practices advising employers of the devices available to them in this field."

All this was blue-penciled by Taft, even though the National Labor Relations board was cited for proof. Here are some of the shocking case histories chucked in the wastebasket:

Regarding the Russell Manufacturing company of Alexander City, Ala., the original report declares: "The trial examiner (of the NLRB) . . . found that the company management planned and carried out an assault on the union organizer, that the personnel director of the company hired a man to beat up a union employee and that the local chief of police, acting in behalf of the company, ordered the union organizer to 'leave town or he would be taken out and mobbed.'"

Assault on Pickets

Again, in the case of the Anchor-Rome Mills, the uncensored report declared: "The NLRB ordered that company to cease and desist from 'instigating, encouraging or assisting physical assaults or threats of physical violence.' The trial examiner's report refers to 'the shocking assaults upon two female pickets and upon several other male strikers.' The company was also ordered to cease and desist from procuring pistol licenses for its management officials for the purpose of intimidating or coercing strikers." Taft also deleted the experience of Mrs. Edna Martin, a middle-aged woman who tried to organize employees of the American Thread company in Tallapoosa, Ga.

Congress Needs Some Kind Of 'Must List' for Legislation

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Both houses of Congress, in the first three weeks of the new session, have become completely fouled up in their own red tape. The subject in the Senate was repeal of taxation and other restrictions on the sale of oleo margarine. In the House it has been an unsuccessful effort to move backwards by repealing a much-needed reform which passed last year, curbing the power of the House Rules Committee to kill legislation.

Performance of this kind is what drives editorial writers and others interested in efficient government nuts. It is also the despair of voters and taxpayers who think they are entitled to a better break for their money. And it provides excellent propaganda material for the advocates of totalitarian government who are telling the world that democracy—with a small "d"—is a complete flop.

Much has been made of the new "performance budget" which President Truman introduced this year. The Citizens' Committee for the Hoover Report on reorganization of the federal government has hailed this as a major step forward in simplifying and making government more efficient. But this performance budget based on dollars has also suggested that maybe what Congress needs is a performance budget based on time.

"Calendars" Are Awkward

The Congress has its parallels to the agenda idea in the Senate and House "calendars." But items get on the calendars only after considerable maneuvering by political strength and awkwardness. This is useful in one respect only. It keeps off the calendar an enormous amount of legislative chaff.

There are now before the Senate 2900 bills and 460 resolutions, most of them left over from the last session. Before the House are 6900 bills and 600 resolutions. The 1949 session of Congress passed only 793 bills, making them law. This comparison of measures introduced and measures passed gives an idea of the amount of work that Congress can do in an eight months' session, during which the Senate met on 185 days, the House 165.

In this slow grinding of the legislative mills, a lot of trivial measures like authorizing the Marine band to go places and play music got passed, while a lot of important measures like aid to education and extension of the social security program got passed over. This is what is said to emphasize a need for some kind of a time performance budget for Congress, to give priority for the more important proposals. In other words, the job of streamlining Congress was not finished—it was barely begun when Congress passed the LaFollette-Monroney reorganization bill of 1946.

Truman Has 85 Top Priority Bills

A rough tabulation of all the measures which President Truman has requested in his State of the Union, Economic and Budget messages of 1950 discloses that there are some 85 which he considers of top priority. In addition, there are another 100 or more proposals made directly by the executive departments of the government which they consider important, though the White House has not yet given them its blessing. To sift through the 10,000 other bills introduced by individual congressmen on their own to determine which are important is next to impossible and has not been attempted.

But the President's list is a good starter for setting up a time performance budget, an agenda, a must list, or whatever you want to call it. This is not to say that everything the President proposes should be passed just because he asked it. Many of the requests in the President's messages should be and probably will be defeated or delayed. But they are the things which any elected chief executive of any party, and the voters who elected him, have a right to expect the Congress to act on, one way or another.

Included in the President's must lists are some ten matters dealing with international relations, such as the Point Four program, ratification of the International Trade charter, amendment of the displaced persons act and revision of customs procedures.

The President's social welfare, housing and education programs involve some 20 measures, including his health plan, aid for middle-income home builders and National Science Foundation bills.

There are half a dozen key farm and natural resource measures, a score involving finance, industry and labor, 10 dealing with general government and the 11-point civil rights program.

And, of course, the new general tax revision proposals deserve top priority over them all.

Desire For Third Term Seems To go With President's Office

By Bruce Blossat

Quiet reports are circulating that President Truman has decided to run for a third term. He is said to have told friends in his Administration not to begin looking for jobs to take effect after 1952.

Few people expect Mr. Truman to admit this intention now, if he has it. There's too much political advantage in keeping everyone guessing.

But if he should run again it would be the strongest evidence yet of how greatly he has changed from the days in 1945 when he was telling the world he didn't want the job—that it had just thrust upon him. It would be a sign that Mr. Truman has been bitten by a bug that seems to bite most presidents.

We have a popular notion that the third term never really became an issue until Franklin D. Roosevelt's time. But the historians say otherwise. According to Arthur M. Schlesinger, Sr., Harvard historian:

"It is hardly an exaggeration to say that since Jackson every incumbent who finished his second term has been an active or receptive aspirant for a third one; and in this respect there has been no distinction between the parties."

Grant wanted a third term in 1876, was discouraged from trying, but then came back and bid for the office again in 1880. Grover Cleveland, finishing his second go in 1896, neither confirmed nor denied ambition for another term. His enemies in the Democratic Party effectively squelched any hopes he may have had.

Theodore Roosevelt, after expressly supporting the two-term tradition and bowing out to William Howard Taft in 1908, changed his mind and actively sought another term in 1912. Had Republicans united on him, he probably would have won.

Woodrow Wilson was an invalid in 1920, but historians are agreed he wanted a third term to vindicate his stand on the League of Nations. The right moment for him never came.

Though Calvin Coolidge appeared to many to remove himself completely by his "I do not choose to run" statement in 1928, numerous observers believe he actually was willing to be drafted for further White House duty. One intimate says he was gravely disappointed when the GOP convention named Herbert Hoover.

You can't explain this behavior among presidents simply by saying that, once kindled, ambition burns exceedingly bright. Historians see more to it than that.

They find that most presidents develop two worries: (1) that their "program" won't be finished unless they complete it themselves, and (2) that a man of true presidential stature can't be obtained to replace them. In other words, from the Olympian heights of the White House, all other candidates look less impressive than the incumbent. He comes to feel that he alone is qualified for the particular job to be done, that no one else can be trusted to carry on his "good work."

If Mr. Truman really is thinking seriously of another try in 1952, chances are that thoughts like these have at least crossed his mind. For they seem to go with the office.

• So They Say

Isa. 1:18—20; II Tim. 2:17; Prov. 15:24

THE FIRST STEP UPWARD

You are now ready, I trust, to put your feet upon the ladder and climb out to release and victory. I shall make that ladder very, very plain, for the greatest moment in life has come. The moment of the great choice has come—a decision that will decide all other decisions down the line—a master decision. . . . In psychology there is what is called "a major choice"—a choice that doesn't have to be made over again every day. Lesser choices fit into it, what is called.

The ladder will have seven steps. It will be built around the thought of "turn," for that word is a central word in Scripture. (1) Turn over in mind your life, its direction and spirit. As you turn it over, you will be tempted to get on the defensive, for it is a hard thing not to defend your life patterns. But be relentlessly honest; look at yourself objectively and refuse to defend any wrong thing in your life. The first step toward complete mental and spiritual health is complete honesty. That ugly self of yours, which you perhaps have dressed up in righteous garments, will plead, excuse, and rationalize. It will try to keep the throne amid all marginal changes. But fasten your attention on yourself as the center of your difficulties. You will be tempted to confess marginal sins and leave untouched the central sins. But nothing permanent has happened until the center of your difficulty, a wrong self, is replaced by another Self—God—as the center of reference, the center from which you get your life commands and orders. A highly cultured and beautiful woman, after reviewing her life, said with a sigh, "We have everything—and nothing." Everything in the way of outer comforts, yet empty of heart.

You remember the blind man sitting by the wayside begging, who, when they told him that Jesus was calling him, "flung away his garments" and ran to Jesus. You must fling away everything that would hinder you from getting to Christ—your inner dishonesties, and your outer ones too, your resentments, your wrong sex relationships, your self-centered attitudes—yes, your very self—and run to Him.

O Christ, where else can I run? If I run away from Thee, I shall run away from life, from release, from the Open Door. Help me, then, to fling away everything—yes, my very self—and come to Thee. For I cannot live any longer with myself until I find Thee, my true Self. So I come. Amen.

Married Students Give Dean Whole Flock of New Worries

I was talking to a Home Economics Dean the other day about how college has changed since the GI's took over the campuses.

Here are just a few of the problems some of her students are facing:

One student, the mother of a 2-year-old child, confessed she was getting gray hair worrying for fear her football player husband might get seriously injured in a game. "After all," said the student wife, "giving all for dear old Alma Mater is harder on the wife than on the football hero."

Other students with small children are scheduling their courses, not primarily by what subjects they would like to take, but by the hours when their husbands will be available as baby-sitters.

And then she has a major whose husband has decided that he'll open a restaurant near the campus as soon as he gets his degree. That has changed his wife's interest from home economics as a background for homemaking to quantity cooking and institutional management.

Campus Mothers Have Problems

There is also the student who had to lighten her scholastic load in order to take a part-time job. "We're going to have a baby," she explained to the dean, "and if I can work for three months I think we can manage to pay for it."

And so it goes on the college campus of today.

End of a Chapter

THE STORY: Alice Pine is a new literary secretary to the popular writer, Mrs. Muriel Halleck, whose pen name is "Jo Palgrave." Alice likes Muriel and she also has met Brent, the writer's artist husband, and Rick, Brent's four-year-old nephew who was adopted by the Hallecks after his parents were killed in an accident. Alice is not pleased with Brent's disposition and she has just witnessed a quarrel between Muriel and Brent over the cutting down of a tree near the house. Muriel says that Brent acts like a "spoiled baby." Brent says, "The land, and what grows on it, is mine."

THE little incident about the tree in the garden increased Alice Pine's natural curiosity about Brent Halleck. She wondered why anyone who could afford a reasonably life in this charming spot could or should be as obstinate and apparently was perpetually discontented and almost truculent. In her opinion, both the Hallecks, Muriel and Brent, were at the top of the world.

Muriel seemed sensible of that fact and was becoming grateful about it. She was gay, cheerful, even dispositioned. At her writing, Muriel drove herself relentlessly, but she knew how to stop and throw the work out of her mind. She had a calmness, even a serenity that was remarkable in a creative person. After the first week of close contact with Muriel, Alice had yet to see the woman actively irritable.

Eventually Alice decided that Muriel had been right. Brent was spoiled. With that conclusion, Alice stopped thinking about him. He was a side issue, anyhow. Her business here was with Muriel. As the days passed she found it a pleasant business. After the feverish operation of an advertising agency, this ordered routine was child's play. She did not even have to take shorthand. To Muriel's own great disgust, she could not dictate satisfactorily.

Muriel's handwriting, however, was reasonably legible. Alice found she could do everything required of her and still have plenty of leisure. But the question of what to do with this extra time puzzled Alice. But Muriel solved this problem for her.

"I saw a golf bag in your room," Muriel said one day. "Play much?"

Alice's blue eyes lighted. "Every chance I get."

They tried it, exhaustively but futilely. The words that flowed so easily to Muriel's fingertips balked at getting off her tongue.

"Oh, darn it!" Muriel exclaimed at last. "It's no use. I'm just a wooden Indian. Why wasn't I born an Edgar Wallace or an E. Phillips Oppenheim? They made fortunes simply by talking to pretty girls and into dictaphones."

"You were born a Jo Palgrave," Alice reminded her. "That puts you in the upper brackets."

BUT the situation distressed

Alice. She was being highly paid and felt that, under these conditions, she wasn't worth it. Without hypocrisy, she suggested a downward salary revision. Muriel blasted the idea.

"Look! I engaged you thinking I could work in a certain way. It's not your fault that I can't. The salary stands. But"—her quick smile flashed—"you're going to suffer now, my dear."

"A pound of flesh?" Alice laughed.

"Definitely. For years I wrote in longhand. I really like doing it that way. But it's a bit old-fashioned and lately I've tried to learn to think on the typewriter. I'm not much good at it, though. So—o-o, back to longhand. And you can struggle with my chicken tracks."

Muriel's handwriting, however, was reasonably legible. Alice found she could do everything required of her and still have plenty of leisure.

But the question of what to do with this extra time puzzled Alice. But Muriel solved this problem for her.

"I saw a golf bag in your room," Muriel said one day. "Play much?"

Alice's blue eyes lighted. "Every chance I get."

"Well," Muriel tapped a pencil against her strong white teeth, "Neither Brent nor I play, but we belong to the Tolliver club. I'll fix it for you to have a round occasionally."

THAT was why, on a certain afternoon, Alice slipped away, leaving Muriel wrestling with a tricky point in her story.

The golf club was a nine-hole affair, and informal. It was deserted, too, as far as the first tee was concerned. Alice drove a ball and split the fairway for 200 yards. But on the second hole her drive landed in the rough near a clump of trees.

She found the ball after a short search, in a bad lie. She was pulling out a niblick when she heard the oath. A round, whole-souled oath in a deep contralto voice. Alice swung around.

A tall woman in tweeds materialized from the little grove of trees. She picked up a golf bag, hitherto hidden by tall grass, and stamped her foot. Then she saw Alice.

"Heavens! I thought I was alone," she exclaimed.

Alice controlled a desire to laugh. "Well, I just got here." The woman came up. She had chestnut hair streaked with gray and a long bony face. "Wish I'd gotten—here," she pointed at Alice's ball. "I'm lost in the blasted woods. But I won't look for my ball any longer."

"I'd be glad to help you," Alice said.

"Thanks. I'm beyond help in this game. Are you playing alone by chance?"

Alice replied that she was. The tall woman hesitated.

"Well, I'm terrible. But why don't we go on together?"

"Certainly," Alice said. (To Be Continued)

The Doctor Says—

X-Ray Treatments of Spinal Arthritis May Bring Results

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

There are several kinds of arthritis of the spine. The cause of some, tuberculosis arthritis for example, is known and the cause of others is not. In some cases an arthritis of the spine may become far advanced before producing any symptoms. In others symptoms appear almost before the condition can be diagnosed by X-ray or other methods.

One form of arthritis of the spine is that which is fairly common in elderly people and in people who are overweight. This is a sort of degeneration and is not accompanied by true inflammation.

When symptoms are produced, however, there is no good method of restoring the spinal joints completely to normal. The treatment must, therefore, be aimed at relieving the symptoms of pain and stiffness insofar as that is possible. A back brace can be helpful. The use of a stiff mattress or a board under the mattress is also commonly recommended. Sometimes heat, massage, or other measures of physical therapy bring about considerable relief.

Type Common in Men

There is one kind of spinal arthritis much more common in young men than in women and less than 22 different sense feels. As a matter of fact, they could be subdivided even more than that.

not particularly likely to develop in older years. No one knows why this should be the case and it is still debated among medical men as to whether this disease of the spine is a variety of the more common rheumatoid arthritis involving other joints or whether it is purely a spinal disease.

Whatever the answer to this question, this form of spinal arthritis is a most unpleasant one. It causes a good deal of pain and stiffness. Unless properly treated it tends to cause the body to be bent forward. It also interferes with proper expansion of the chest. Eventually, that is in a matter of years, it causes a complete stiffening of the spine—called poker spine—and when this occurs, the pain disappears.

The best form of treatment is still uncertain although some have reported good results with X-ray treatments. One or two patients have been treated with compound E or cortisone but it is still too early to tell how this will work and anyway, as has been pointed out before, cortisone is not yet available for general use.

Any person with an arthritis of the spine must have an accurate diagnosis which can only be obtained by careful examination and by X-rays. Only when this is done can the proper treatment be decided on.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Why Burn Brush?

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—Worthless brushland ought to be burned over in this state for a number of reasons, says Dr. George H. Hart of the College of Agriculture here. California's growing population makes it necessary to use more land, he says, and livestock feed increases after burning brush whether the land is seeded or not.

Our Boarding House... with... Major Hoople

IS IT TRUE YOU'RE TEAMING UP WITH PIKE ON TELEVISION, JAKE? I'M MAKING A LIST OF PUBLIC ENEMIES—HOW DO YOU SPELL YOUR NAME, WITH ONE HICCUUP OR TWO?

SPRINGING THOSE MILDEWED GAGS IS A MISDEMEANOR! HOW CAN YOU EXPLAIN IT TO THE PAROLE OFFICERS?

LOOK! I AIN'T SAID I WAS GOIN' ON WITH PIKE, BUT IF I DO, WHAT'S IT TO YOU BARBERS? I'M STILL RUNNIN' TH' SWITCH TOWER YOU BUMS HOP BACK ON YOUR FLAT CARS!

ANY-ONE ELSE GOT ANY QUESTIONS FOR THE PROFESSOR?

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS

DUMB LIKE EINSTEIN

BY MERRILL BLOSSER

WHAT'S MORE, DON'T YOU BOYS DARE SNOOP WHILE WE'RE FIXING OUR BOXES FOR THE SOCIAL?

FRECKLES AND LARD ARE SIMPLY FRYING BECAUSE WE DIDN'T SAY ANYTHING ABOUT THEIR RACCOON COATS!

NOW THEY KNOW HOW A WOMAN FEELS WHEN SHE'S WEARING A NEW HAT!

BUT DON'T WANT THEM TO SNOOP SO THEY'LL BE SURE TO BID ON OUR LUNCHES AT THE AUCTION?

WHY DO YOU THINK I TOLD THEM NOT TO?

THEY DON'T SUSPECT A THING!

SILLY FILLES!

Elimination In Oration Contest
An original oration contest was held at the Smith-Cotton high school Thursday afternoon as an elimination contest for the annual American Legion oratorical contest.
Six members who participated were: Carol Lance, Donald Potter, Bob Holtzen, Charles Walton, Shirley Bennett and Janice Puckett.
The winners in their order are:
Bob Holtzen, Shirley Bennett and Carol Lance.
The judges were: I. H. Reed,
Miss Mary English and Mrs.
Frank Coffman.
This qualifies the winner to represent Pettis county as there are no other participants, in the district meet.
Arms Project Costly
LONDON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Britain's defense ministry is spending nearly 60,000,000 pounds ($168, 000,000) on a top secret arms project which it won't talk about event to parliament.
Testimony before the house of commons' all-party committee on estimates (costs), made public today, disclosed that ministry officials would not even say whether the ministry of supply—which handles Britain's atomic research —was involved.
Wants Contracts Let Now
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—
With the nation's atomic program going faster than expected, President Truman has asked congress to let the government sign $87-650,000 in contracts now, instead of next summer.
The White House submitted the request for additional contract authority yesterday, without waiting for adoption of the budget for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.
While the request came in the midst of widespread speculation about a program for making hydrogen bombs—a super-explosive far mightier than conventional atomic bombs—there seemed little reason to relate the two.
British Sunday Called Dull
LONDON.—(AP) — Investigators who wondered what the British do on Sundays have the answer:
"Nothing particular." The report was by "Mass Observation," a group of sociologists and mass opinion experts who market studies of British life and habits.
Totting up the average Briton on Sunday, the surveyors said 14 out of 20 listen to the radio, eight go for a walk, four potter around in the garden, four visit the pub, two go to the movies, three go to church. Most people do at least two of those things.
Preacher Sums Up 1950 Ills
PHILADELPHIA.—(AP) — A Presbyterian pastor says he thinks he has the answer to 1950's most important problems.
The Rev. Arthur D. Williams said:
"We need better leaders, freedom from fear and help for social cripples. There are too many people today who are ready to brand any and all who speak freely about the shortcomings of society as subversive. The result of this is that many splendid citizens see wrong and are afraid to speak and act because of the sneer threat."
Trained Propaganda
BERLIN.—(AP) — If you ride
East German trains nowadays you're liable to get a lecture on how good Communism is for the people.
This is the latest form of Communist propaganda in the Soviet Zone: Communist party comrades start political discussions in the trains, preferably on how living standards can be improved if the workers work harder.

House Passes
$90,000,000
Bill For Tax
Would Be Placed On Companies In Life Insurance
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(P)—
House passed Thursday and sent to the Senate a bill laying a $90-000,000 tax on life insurance companies which President Truman called for in his new tax program.
It would plug one of the "loopholes" described by Mr. Truman which he said must be closed up to provide new revenue before he will approve a proposed slash in excise taxes.
A Republican attempt to push across a "quickie" $700,000,000 excise tax reduction failed. A showdown vote was blocked on a technicality; it was held out of order.
The insurance bill levying on part of the $4,500,000,000 untaxed 1947, 1948 and 1949 investment income of the insurance companies represented the first victory for a part of President Truman's new tax program. The House was told that 95 percent of the business favored it.
Martin offered the excise slash-er as an amendment to the life insurance tax bill.
But Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), presiding at the time, ruled that an excise amendment could not be offered, under House rules, to a bill dealing only with the corporation income tax section of the internal revenue code.
The effort to force a vote on excise cuts came at a time when pressure was reported as mounting—with many letters and telegrams coming to capitol hill—for a bill that would cut Mr. Truman's tax program in half—reducing "excises" immediately and leaving the rest to be handled in separate legislation later.
Mr. Truman asked for excise easement, but laid down a threat to veto any bill that did this without picking up the lost revenue by plugging of what he called tax law "loopholes", including the tax-free life insurance company income. In addition he asked separately for an overall tax increase of $1,000,000,000 by new levies on corporations, inheritance and big gifts.
Accuse Father
Of Kidnaping
CARTHAGE, Mo., Jan. 27.—(P)— A charge of kidnaping was filed Thursday against Henry R.
Brown of Tacoma, Wash., in connection with the disappearance of his 13-year-old daughter from a rural school last month.
Tiffin Peters, deputy county prosecutor, said Brown's former wife, now Mrs. Georgia May Wilson, had been awarded custody of the daughter when the couple was divorced in Washington state in 1938. He said Brown later obtained custody of the child in a subsequent action in Nevada and in 1942 unsuccessfully sought to obtain her custody in Missouri by a habeas corpus action.
The girl, Betty Lou, Wilson, was a student at Marion school, West of Carthage. Brown was accused of forcibly taking her from the school last December 14.
Peters said Brown also was charged with flourishing a deadly weapon in connection with an incident in Carthage several days before the kidnaping.

Says Plan To Fail Or Stand In Two Years

Gen. Marshall In Expression Of View On Program

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 27—(P)—The Marshall plan, in the opinion of the man who originated it, will either flunk or pass its foreign-aid test in the next two years.

Gen. George C. Marshall, here for four hours Thursday as president of American National Red Cross, said he thinks the support program can be terminated in 1952 if certain problems are solved.

"But in order for the program to be effective," the former secretary of state said, "there must be an adjustment of currency in Europe and a revision of tariff policies. If these problems can be met, I think we will be able to terminate the program in 1952."

Marshall's in-and-out visit was for the Red Cross—"to get a line on what is being done and who is doing it," as he put it.

He did, though, indicate he has no ambitions to become President of the United States.

A reporter asked him if he thought a person's military background would effect his qualification for President.

"I'm not interested," he answered.

And at Wichita, Kas., a few hours later, asked at a press and radio conference if he felt his present disinterest in "seeking political office" might change, Marshall fired back:

"No—I never will change on that."

Marshall, the five-star general and wartime army chief of staff, made no further comment.

Addressed Luncheon
He told reporters he would not comment on the international scene. He didn't, other than the Marshall plan.

Marshall addressed a Red Cross luncheon at noon and then held a 30-minute conference with state organization leaders. He came here this morning in an Air Force plane from similar meetings in Texas and left in mid-afternoon for more of the same in Wichita, Kas.

"The general progress of the Marshall plan," he said, "has gone beyond our best expectations—20 to 25 per cent beyond them. But the next two years will be the critical test period for the plan."

Marshall emphasized the importance of Red Cross work—"it's national, not local"—and said more than $11,000,000 is available for disaster work over the nation in the next year.

Of that $4,200,000 has been budgeted and an additional $7,000,000 is in reserve fund.

President Truman appointed Marshall to head the Red Cross last October.

Reforms Essential
It will not be easy for the 16 sovereign nations of western Europe to make the needed currency and tariff changes, Marshall told his press-radio conference at Wichita.

But those reforms are essential, he said, to avoid "a situation where they will have to be helped again and again."

Most of those countries already have equalled or exceeded their Marshall plan goals to date, he said.

Whether this ahead-of-schedule situation can mean a money saving to this nation's taxpayers, he doesn't know.

But he expressed confidence that Congress "in its good judgment" and the present Marshall plan administrators can find the answer.

Western Europe has come far since the summer of 1947, he said—from a condition "you had to see to really understand—abject poverty, hopeless feeling, threats, the very grave difficulty of living—a hopeless future."

His concern now, he said, is that this country "go through with the program as planned."

"A miracle, almost, has been

Thought He Had Killed But Didn't

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 27—(P)—Paul F. Lovey who told police in Las Vegas, Nev., that he had shot and killed a Kansas City policeman in 1913, walked out of jail Thursday a free man.

The 53-year-old horse shoer who claims Los Angeles as his home, was discharged with assault with intent to kill.

Lovey was brought here from Las Vegas after he told police there he had killed a policeman named Bernard McKernan January 24, 1914. However, a check here showed the officer he thought he had killed was John B. Merritt and that the shooting had taken place December 13, 1913. Merritt was wounded, but recovered.

The state requested that the charge of assault with intent to kill be dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Five Children Burn To Death

Trapped In Two Room Home At Lawton, Okla.

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 27—(P)—A small home became a blazing coffin for five young, screaming brothers and sisters Thursday trapped behind a locked door in their smoke-filled two-room dwelling.

Seven persons living in another house pushed against the one which first went ablaze rushed from their home uninjured.

The victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Young. Their ages ranged from two months to six years.

Mrs. Young told highway patrolman Clyde Awtry a wooden latch on the kitchen door apparently fell and locked itself. She said one of her children slammed it as she left the house.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Henslee, their four children, and an unidentified man ran from their house when flames seeped through the adjoining wall.

Mrs. Young said she lighted her kitchen gas range and then walked into her yard for water. Minutes later—while visiting with another neighbor—she heard her children's frantic cries for help.

Mrs. Young said she and the neighbors, who were unidentified, ran the short distance to her home but were unable to force the locked door open.

Rescue Efforts Fail
The heat from the fire drove them back when they tried to enter through one of four broken windows.

Cause of the fire still is undetermined.

Awtry said he was driving in the area when he saw the smoke pouring from the dwelling.

Four of the young children were found dead on a double bed. The infant was in its crib.

The victims: Judith Aline, 6; Patty Louise, 5; Phyllis, 3; David, 20 months; and Denny, two months.

Their father was at work when the tragedy occurred.

Awtry said the children apparently died from suffocation. The Lawton fire department extinguished the blaze before damage became extensive.

Young is 32, his wife 23. Each family had but two rooms. Henslee said a piece of blazing tar fell on him as he attempted to enter the Young home and thwarted his rescue try.

Mrs. Young said one of her children was abed with a cold. The infant was asleep in his crib when she left the house.

Awtry said four of the bodies were charred beyond recognition.

accomplished—and it's been an accomplishment of construction, not of relief.

"We ought not to cripple the plan when we've gone so far—and had such excellent results."

Predicts That Truman Seek Re-Election

Political Writer Thinks Gen. "Ike" Be Choice Of GOP

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 27—(P)—A prediction that President Truman will run for re-election in 1952, possibly against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, came on Thursday night from Jack Bell, political writer for the Associated Press in Washington.

"All signs at present point to Truman as likely to run again," Bell said in an address at the annual mid-winter meeting of the Oklahoma Press Association.

"On the Republican side, it looks as if the battle for the presidential nomination might be waged among Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

"If the Republicans come down to 1952 in a political desperate frame of mind, they will be more likely to nominate Eisenhower than somebody like Taft."

"Nobody knows whether Eisenhower is a Republican or a Democrat but his attacks on the concentration of government power in Washington have been such as to encourage the Republicans to believe that he is one of them."

Democrat Possibilities
Bell, a former Oklahoman, told the publishers that if Truman does not run again, the best Democratic presidential possibilities appear to be Chief Justice Vinson, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Additional Democratic possibilities, he said, include Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., "if he runs for governor of New York and is elected," and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Other Republican presidential possibilities were listed as Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey.

"If Truman runs, Vice President Barkley probably will be his running mate again," Bell said.

"Truman has gained considerable confidence since the 1948 election," the veteran newspaperman declared. "He may come to believe it will be necessary for him to run again."

Bell said the 1950 congressional elections "may be critical in the sense that if the Republicans lose ground in Congress this time the

Truck Ablaze In Motor Shop

Considerable damages resulted in a fire at the Boots Motor company, 713 West Main street, about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

According to George Boots, manager of the company, the blaze started around the motor of a 1948 Dodge pick-up truck. The truck was jacked-up in the rear and was being worked on.

The fire was first discovered by Bob Moeck, shop foreman. There were several other employees in the garage at the time.

Both fire companies answered the call and quickly extinguished the blaze. Fire chief J. G. Lueck estimated the damages of the truck and building about $1,200.

The entire building was badly smoked up and the ceiling of the garage was scorched above where the truck was standing. George Boots said he thought the truck, owned by the company, was a total loss. Boots added that there were a few tools lost or damaged.

Aid Program To The Handicapped

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27—(P)—A statewide, year-round program to urge employment of physically handicapped workers was started here Thursday.

A committee appointed by Gov. Forrest Smith to sponsor "national employ the physically handicapped week" in Missouri named Joy O. Talley as chairman. He is director of vocational rehabilitation for the state department of education.

It also decided to set up local committees in each county to promote the program on a year-round basis.

One of the activities will be sponsorship of an essay contest for 11th and 12th graders. Authors of the four best Missouri essays will get certificates of award. The first prize winner gets a chance to compete nationally for a $1,000 prize.

Lewis Is Ready To Negotiate

Move For An End To Frequent Walkouts In The Soft Coal Fields

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26—(P)—John L. Lewis agreed to renew contract negotiations today at invitation of the strike-plagued soft coal industry.

It is the first concrete development of the year toward ending the frequent coal walkouts which have plagued the nation for months and cut fuel stockpiles to the danger point.

More than 88,000 diggers now are idle in a no contract no work strike in six important bituminous producing states. Unemployment in allied industries like steel mills and railroads has reached 18,000.

Four hours after the coal industry put out its invitation for contract talks, Lewis said he will meet northern and western operators in Washington on Wednesday, February 1.

That's the date the United Mine Workers chief must reply in Washington federal district court to a National Labor Relations Board petition for injunction against Lewis' three-day work week.

Lewis advised the operators he is willing to resume negotiations "in good faith, without stipulation, qualification or commitment."

Operators Firm
But the operators made no concessions. They stand firm on the same proposals made to the UMW in fruitless sessions dating back to May 25, 1949.

They had asked Lewis for a prompt reply to their contract offer so miners can go back to work and ease coal shortages.

Resumption of bargaining could have an effect on the NLRB suit for a court injunction against Lewis on charges of unfair labor practices.

Robert N. Donham, NLRB general counsel who filed the action, heard of the Lewis move and commented:

"If Lewis and the operators can sit down and work out a legal agreement, nobody will support 'em faster than I will."

There was no immediate reaction from coal operators.

In Washington, President Truman was reported to be "working as hard as he can" on the current soft coal strike and hoping "for the best."

The statement was made by Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) who said he told Mr. Truman that West Virginia, at least, is suffering an emergency in the coal strike. The President has insisted no national emergency exists that would justify his invoking the Taft-Hartley act against Lewis and seek an injunction which would compel the miners to work a five day week. They have been working only three days a week on Lewis' orders of July 1.

Aid Program To The Handicapped

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 26—(P)—A statewide, year-round program to urge employment of physically handicapped workers was started here today.

A committee appointed by Gov. Forrest Smith to sponsor "national employ the physically handicapped week" in Missouri named Joy O. Talley as chairman. He is director of vocational rehabilitation for the state department of education.

It also decided to set up local committees in each county to promote the program on a year-round basis.

One of the activities will be sponsorship of an essay contest for 11th and 12th graders. Authors of the four best Missouri essays will get certificates of award. The first prize winner gets a chance to compete nationally for a $1,000 prize.

Money to City, Restrictions

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 26—(P)—The late Dr. M. M. Miller left property worth about $10,000 to the city of St. Petersburg.

But City Manager Ross E. Windom says he doesn't think the city can comply with all the strings attached to the bequest.

The property is located on Sunset Beach, an unincorporated part of St. Petersburg's gulf beaches.

Thought He Had Killed But Didn't

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26—(P)—Paul F. Lovey who told police in Las Vegas, Nev., that he had shot and killed a Kansas City policeman in 1913, walked out of jail today a free man.

The 53-year-old horse shoer who claims Los Angeles as his home, was discharged with assault with intent to kill.

Lovey was brought here from Las Vegas after he told police there he had killed a policeman named Bernard McKernan January 24, 1914. However, a check here showed the officer he thought he had killed was John B. Merritt and that the shooting had taken place December 13, 1913. Merritt was wounded, but recovered.

The state requested that the charge of assault with intent to kill be dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Predicts That Truman Seek Re-Election

Political Writer Thinks Gen. "Ike" Be Choice Of GOP

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 26—(P)—A prediction that President Truman will run for re-election in 1952, possibly against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, came tonight from Jack Bell, political writer for the Associated Press in Washington.

"All signs at present point to Truman as likely to run again," Bell said in an address at the annual mid-winter meeting of the Oklahoma Press Association.

"On the Republican side, it looks as if the battle for the presidential nomination might be waged among Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

"If the Republicans come down to 1952 in a political desperate frame of mind, they will be more likely to nominate Eisenhower than somebody like Taft.

"Nobody knows whether Eisenhower is a Republican or a Democrat but his attacks on the concentration of government power in Washington have been such as to encourage the Republicans to believe that he is one of them."

Democrat Possibilities
Bell, a former Oklahoman, told the publishers that if Truman does not run again, the best Democratic presidential possibilities appear to be Chief Justice Vinson, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Additional Democratic possibilities, he said, include Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., "if he runs for governor of New York and is elected," and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Other Republican presidential possibilities were listed as Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey.

"If Truman runs, Vice President Barkley probably will be his running mate again," Bell said.

"Truman has gained considerable confidence since the 1948 election," the veteran newspaperman declared. "He may come to believe it will be necessary for him to run again."

Bell said the 1950 congressional elections "may be critical in the sense that if the Republicans lose ground in Congress this time the Democratic impetus may be sufficient to carry the Democratic party through the 1952 presidential election."

"A sixth straight presidential defeat would be certain to crack the Republican party open," he declared. "It might even cause its disintegration."

Accuse Father Of Kidnaping

CARTHAGE, Mo., Jan. 26—(P)—A charge of kidnaping was filed today against Henry R. Brown of Tacoma, Wash., in connection with the disappearance of his 13-year-old daughter from a rural school last month.

Tiffin Peters, deputy county prosecutor, said Brown's former wife, now Mrs. Georgia May Wilson, had been awarded custody of the daughter when the couple was divorced in Washington state in 1938. He said Brown later obtained custody of the child in a subsequent action in Nevada and in 1942 unsuccessfully sought to obtain her custody in Missouri by a habeas corpus action.

The girl, Betty Lou Wilson, was a student at Marion school, West of Carthage. Brown was accused of forcibly taking her from the school last December 14.

Peters said Brown also was charged with flourishing a deadly weapon in connection with an incident in Carthage several days before the kidnaping.

Says Plan To Fail Or Stand In Two Years

Gen. Marshall In Expression Of View On Program

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 26—(P)—The Marshall plan, in the opinion of the man who originated it, will either flunk or pass its foreign-aid test in the next two years.

Gen. George C. Marshall, here for four hours today as President of the American National Red Cross, said he thinks the support program can be terminated in 1952 if certain problems are solved.

"But in order for the program to be effective," the former secretary of state said, "there must be an adjustment of currency in Europe and a revision of tariff policies. If these problems can be met, I think we will be able to terminate the program in 1952."

Marshall's in-and-out visit was for the Red Cross—"to get a line on what is being done and who is doing it," as he put it.

He did, though, indicate he has no ambitions to become President of the United States.

A reporter asked him if he thought a person's military background would effect his qualification for President.

"I'm not interested," he answered.

And at Wichita, Kas., a few hours later, asked at a press and radio conference if he felt his present disinterest in "seeking political office" might change, Marshall fired back:

"No—I never will change on that."

Marshall, the five-star general and wartime army chief of staff, made no further comment.

Addressed Luncheon
He told reporters he would not comment on the international scene. He didn't, other than the Marshall plan.

Marshall addressed a Red Cross luncheon at noon and then held a 30-minute conference with state organization leaders. He came here this morning in an Air Force plane from similar meetings in Texas and left in mid-afternoon for more of the same in Wichita, Kas.

"The general progress of the Marshall plan," he said, "has gone beyond our best expectations—20 to 25 per cent beyond them. But the next two years will be the critical test period for the plan."

Marshall emphasized the importance of Red Cross work—"it's national, not local"—and said more than $11,000,000 is available for disaster work over the nation in the next year.

Of that $4,200,000 has been budgeted and an additional $7,000,000 is in a reserve fund.

President Truman appointed Marshall to head the Red Cross last October.

Reforms Essential
It will not be easy for the 16 sovereign nations of western Europe to make the needed currency and tariff changes, Marshall told his press-radio conference at Wichita.

But those reforms are essential, he said, to avoid "a situation where they will have to be helped again and again."

Most of those countries already have equalled or exceeded their Marshall plan goals to date, he said.

Whether this ahead-of-schedule situation can mean a money saving to this nation's taxpayers, he doesn't know.

But he expressed confidence that Congress "in its good judgment" and the present Marshall plan administrators can find the answer.

Western Europe has come far since the summer of 1947, he said—from a condition "you had to see to really understand—abject poverty, hopeless feeling, threats, the very grave difficulty of living—a hopeless future."

His concern now, he said, is that this country "go through with the program as planned."

"A miracle, almost, has been accomplished—and it's been an accomplishment of construction, not of relief."

"We ought not to cripple the plan when we've gone so far—and had such excellent results."

Bobby Was Stuck, Mechanic Rescued Him
PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 26—(P)—Bobby Morgan, five, knows a little how a sardine feels.

Bobby went exploring yesterday in the family trash barrel, an empty oil drum. After a pleasant time among the tin cans, he decided to take his curiosity elsewhere. That's when he discovered he was stuck.

Bobby's daddy, William J. Morgan, tried to get Bobby out, but failed. Fire department and ambulance also failed.

Finally, out of the crowd came L. B. Hickman, a mechanic, who went to work with hacksaw and tin snips. Bobby, only his pride injured, was rescued just in time for dinner.

General MacArthur, in Japan Seventy Years Old Thursday

By Tom Lambert
TOKYO, Jan. 26—(P)—General MacArthur, the man who has ruled Japan since the rising sun set more than four years ago, was 70 years old today.

Physically well and mentally tough, the supreme allied occupation commander talked a little about his increasingly difficult job—but not for publication.

His views are pretty well known on the rising sun tide in Asia, peace for Japan, the importance of Formosa in the U. S. Pacific defense line.

It is also known he does not think war is imminent. He is known to regard modern war as so nearly all-destructive that any future conflict might prostrate the participants.

But today you would hardly have known he had anything on his mind but a birthday.

There was little ceremony or fanfare.

There were congratulations of course. From his son and wife, from officers who have followed him through hot and cold war, from many friends in many lands and from Sir Alvary Gascoigne of the British mission here who brought greetings from Tokyo's diplomatic missions.

The general, tall and thin and working as every other day, briskly stepped from behind his huge uncluttered desk to greet a long line of well wishers.

House Passes $90,000,000 Bill For Tax

Would Be Placed On Companies In Life Insurance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(P)—The House today passed and sent to the Senate a bill laying a $90,000,000 tax on life insurance companies which President Truman called for in his new tax program.

It would plug one of the "loopholes" described by Mr. Truman which he said must be closed up to provide new revenue before he will approve a proposed slash in excise taxes.

A Republican attempt to push across a "quickie" $700,000,000 excise tax reduction failed. A showdown vote was blocked on a technicality; it was held out of order.

The insurance bill levying on part of the $4,500,000,000 untaxed 1947, 1948 and 1949 investment income of the insurance companies represented the first victory for a part of President Truman's new tax program. The House was told that 95 percent of the business favored it.

Martin offered the excise slash as an amendment to the life insurance tax bill.

But Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), presiding at the time, ruled that an excise amendment could not be offered, under House rules, to a bill dealing only with the corporation income tax section of the internal revenue code.

The effort to force a vote on excise cuts came at a time when pressure was reported as mounting—with many letters and telegrams coming to Capitol Hill—for a bill that would cut Mr. Truman's tax program in half—reducing excises immediately and leaving the rest to be handled in separate legislation later.

Mr. Truman asked for excise easement, but laid down a threat to veto any bill that did this without picking up the lost revenue by plugging of what he called tax law "loopholes," including the tax-free life insurance company income. In addition he asked separately for an overall tax increase of $1,000,000,000 by new levies on corporations, inheritances and big gifts.

Take Cocklebur From Throat
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26—(P)—Several cockleburs stuck to 13-year-old Joan Evelyn Fugate's mittens as she took a shortcut across a field on her way to school near El Dorado, Mo., yesterday.

Reaching the school ground, Joan started to wave at a friend. A cocklebur dislodged from a mitten and accidentally was caught in her mouth as she started to call out a greeting.

It lodged far down in her throat. The eighth grade pupil was taken to doctors in El Dorado and Nevada, Mo., who advised her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland S. Fugate, to take her to a Kansas City hospital.

Doctors at St. Luke's hospital here removed the cocklebur yesterday afternoon. Joan, who "feeling fine today," is to return to her home tomorrow.

Drucie Snyder Bride Of White House Aide

Over 1,100 At The Nuptials Of Once Sedalia Child

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(P)—President Truman bussed the bride tonight at a champagne-splashing wedding reception for Drucie Snyder, 24-year-old daughter of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

More than 2,000 guests jammed the fashionable Chevy Chase Country Club and sipped glasses of American champagne drawn from a live-vent fountain constantly flowing with bubbly wine.

The reception followed Drucie's marriage late this afternoon to Maj. John Ernest Horton, of Wichita, Kas., a White House military aide.

With a wide grin, Mr. Truman gave Drucie a full smack on the lips and playfully nudged Mrs. Truman who gasped a little at his side.

The wedding and reception, the big event of the winter social season in Washington, drew a glittering assemblage of top-drawer government, political and diplomatic figures.

Mr. Truman did not sample the flow from the champagne fountain, but seemed to be enjoying himself thoroughly in another room where other liquid refreshments were served.

Long Reception Line
Other guests lined around the champagne "pump." Smoked oysters, southern baked ham, French pastries and fancy hors d'oeuvres loaded down long tables for the guests, who also danced to Samba and Rhumba music. The reception line lasted two hours.

When Drucie tossed her bride's bouquet, it was caught by a friend who is already engaged. Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, was in the arm-reaching crowd but missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman stayed about 20 minutes at the reception, and somewhat later Drucie and her husband slipped away for a Florida honeymoon.

More than 1,100 persons, including many notables, attended the wedding.

The bride was dressed in a white gown of Japanese silk, trailing a 10-yard train. Her bridesmaids were all in green.

President Truman, hatless in deference to the unseasonal 74-degree heat, wore an oxford grey afternoon suit. Mrs. Truman wore a mink jacket, fingertip length, a black dress and flowered spring bonnet.

The presidential limousine, whirled through the rush-hour traffic by a police escort, arrived at Washington cathedral a few minutes before the ceremony began at 5 p. m. Spectators cheered and called out "Hi, Mr. President."

The bride will be remembered by many Sedalians, having lived here as a child in 1934 or 1935 for several months when her father was in Sedalia to liquidate the Citizens National bank and the Sedalia National bank.

Among those receiving invitations to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keyser, 1004 West Fourth street, close friends of the Snyder family, who were unable to go to Washington at this time.

After the double-ring ceremony, from which the word "obey" was omitted, Mr. Truman stood on the cathedral steps, smiling arm in arm with Drucie and her father, posing for pictures.

"Cause of the fire still is undetermined," Awtry said he was driving in the area when he saw the smoke pouring from the dwelling.

Four of the young children were found dead on a double bed. The infant was in its crib.

The victims: Judith Aline, 6; Patty Louise, 5; Phyllis, 3; David, 20 months; and Denny, two months.

Their father was at work when the tragedy occurred.

Awtry said the children apparently died from suffocation. The Lawton fire department extinguished the blaze before damage became extensive.

Young is 32, his wife 23. Each family had but two rooms.

Hensle said a piece of blazing tar fell on him as he attempted to enter the Young home and thwarted his rescue try.

Mrs. Young said one of her children was abed with a cold. The infant was asleep in his crib when she left the house.

Awtry said four of the bodies were charred beyond recognition.

Rural School House Destroyed By Fire
MACON, Mo., Jan. 26—(P)—Fire destroyed Macon county's old two-room rural school house last night.

The Bevier fire department was called to the school, one and one-half miles southeast of the town. Its efforts and that of volunteer firefighters found a strong northwesterly wind too much.

Mrs. Weldon Mayhew, who has taught the school the last five years, said school work would be resumed soon. Nineteen students are entered at the school known as the Dewey school.

Talk on Live Stock to Club

The importance of live stock production and agriculture to communities like Sedalia was stressed in a talk on "Live Stock and the Meat Industry," by Charles K. Dickson, of the Krey Packing Company, St. Louis, before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Thursday noon.

The speaker was introduced by R. C. Hemphill, of the Agriculture committee. L. A. Pharris was program chairman.

Preceding the talk, Tom Mulally supervised the playing of a Kiwanis International anniversary program recording.

President Herbert Schrankler announced there would be a board of directors and committee chairmen meeting Friday noon at Dan's Restaurant, at which time chairmen will make monthly reports on their committee activities.

Charles Maggard was a guest of Arthur J. Morgan.

Statement by Acheson Has Aroused GOP

Wondering How Far Alger Hiss May Have Influenced Him

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson's suddenly famous statement that "I do not intend to turn my back on Alger Hiss" stirred Republican wrath today.

A number of those who have been arguing that the Roosevelt-Truman administrations have been "soft" toward Communism prepared to follow the lead of Senator Mundt (R-SD).

Mundt directed a three-hour attack on Hiss, Acheson and administration foreign policies late yesterday in the Senate.

Of Acheson's statement that he wouldn't turn his back on Hiss—an old friend and state department associate who has been convicted of perjury in a trial that linked him with Communists—Mundt had this to say:

Worried About Influence
"The important thing is not the manner in which Dean Acheson permits Hiss to influence the position of his back—the thing that Americans would like to know is how far Dean Acheson has permitted Hiss to influence his mind."

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) wanted to know whether Acheson's statement "might be an indication that the secretary of state is also telling the world that he will not turn his back on any of the other Communists in the state department."

There were some informal expressions of admiration for Acheson on Capitol Hill, based on the theme of personal loyalty, but there was no apparent rush to his side.

O'Toole's Comment
One Democrat, Rep. O'Toole of Brooklyn, criticized the state department chief. O'Toole told a reporter:

"If Secretary of State Acheson has been quoted correctly, I feel that he has done the greatest disservice to due process of law and the democratic way of life that has ever been done by any high American public servant."

Acheson's remark, at a news conference, came within a few hours of the sentencing of Hiss to five years on conviction of lying in swearing that he never passed any secret state department documents to an agent for the Communist underground.

Hiss maintained his innocence and pledged he would vindicate himself.

The secretary of state, with some emotion, told reporters: "I should like to make it clear to you that whatever the outcome of any appeal which Mr. Hiss or his lawyers may take in this case, I do not intend to turn my back on Alger Hiss."

Must Decide on Conduct
"I think every person who has known Alger Hiss or has served with him at any time has upon his conscience the very serious task of deciding what his attitude is and what his conduct should be."

Acheson said it was clear to him what his own stand should be.

He referred reporters to the Bible, to the words of Christ relating how righteous people fed the hungry, gave drink to the thirsty, took in the stranger, clothed the naked and visited the prisoner.

The biblical passage he cited ends: "Inasmuch as you have done it unto one of the least of these, my brother, ye have done it unto me."

Mundt also criticized supreme court justice Felix Frankfurter (for testifying in behalf of Hiss at the first trial, which ended with a hung jury).

He said Frankfurter had "dragged the hallowed robes of the supreme court into a criminal court as a character witness for a man now convicted of perjury."

Weather On Freak Binge

Warm In The East As Cold In California Hits A New Blow

After a drop in temperature to 6 degrees above zero here Thursday morning an easing up from the cold wave is forecast for today. The high Thursday was 18 degrees.

By The Associated Press
Summary In East

A stinging summer-to-winter cold front rolled deep into the midwest Thursday. Gales and drenching rains accompanying the change damaged property and raised new flood threats.

The winter's fourth cold wave in southern California struck another blow at the state's citrus crop, but summerlike temperatures prevailed in the east.

The weather was on a freak binge that produced these contrasts:

It was 14 degrees colder in Los Angeles than in Toronto. Los Angeles had an overnight low of 36 while it never dipped under 50 in the Canadian city.

Guymon, Okla., in the northwest part of the state recorded 2 degrees, while Idabel, Okla., in the southeast section sweltered in 80 degrees.

Mercury thermometers froze in Sanish, N. D., when the temperature dropped to -46. But in Washington, D. C., where it was 123 degrees warmer at 77, noon-day strollers were hatless and coatless.

In Chicago, where the mercury hit an all time high January reading of 67 Wednesday, a season's low of zero was forecast for Thursday night.

The coldest weather of the season gripped the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

But more heat records were broken in the east and southeast. The mercury shot up to 70.5 at 3 p. m. (EST) in New York, marking the hottest January weather in the city's history. The Rockefeller center ice skating rink had to be shut down because the sun melted the ice.

Snakes Cease Hibernation
Groundhogs, turtles and snakes came out of hibernation in a Philadelphia zoo. Forsythias, dandelion and jasmine were blooming all over eastern Pennsylvania. Bees swarmed around a honeysuckle bush in full bloom in the Towson, Md., courthouse square. Chestnut vendors tended their stands in shirt sleeves in Newark, N. J.

Havre, Mont., had 37. below zero; Williston, N. D., -36; Bemidji, Minn., -33; Grand Island, Neb., -26 and Sibley, Ia., -25.

The advancing cold front dumped heavy rains along the upper Mississippi and Ohio river valleys. Winds of 72 miles an hour tore at Indianapolis, blowing out dozens of store windows and disrupting electric service.

Winds up to 75 miles an hour raked southern Michigan, damaging farm buildings and uprooting trees. Eight inches of fresh snow fell on the northern tip of the upper peninsula of Michigan. Houghton, Mich., was buried under 52 inches of snow on the ground. Some drifts were 15 feet high.

The Ohio river valley rains prompted the Indianapolis weather bureau to predict the third set of flood crests on the White and Wabash rivers. Rains of as much as 2.8 inches fell overnight.

The worst of the threatened new flood is expected on the West Fork of the White river. Week end stages are expected to rival those of mid-January. However, Vincennes, Ind., threatened by the Wabash earlier this month, expects a crest six feet below the earlier peak.

Damages Of $20,000 In Injuries Suit

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26—(P)—A four-year-old girl was awarded $20,000 damages by a federal jury today for injuries suffered in the explosion of a Coca Cola bottle she had in her hand.

The girl, Nancy McIntyre, suffered the loss of her left eye from the accident in her home in August, 1947. In another action before U. S. District Judge Albert A. Ridge, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. McIntyre, were awarded $5,000 for medical expenses and anguish as a result of the accident.

The Weather

Fair Friday, warmer west and north, much warmer northwest; Saturday partly cloudy, warmer, followed by colder extreme north-west Saturday afternoon; highs Friday 30-35 west, in 20s east.

Slogan Contest On Proposed Air Academy

Sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber Of Commerce

William Hurlbut, Jr., director of publicity for the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and Joe Ruddick, committeeman, announced Saturday that a state-wide slogan contest will begin Monday, and continue through Tuesday, January 31. The purpose of this contest is to stimulate more interest in the promotion of the United States Air Academy at the Sedalia Airfield and the slogan will be used in this capacity.

A $50.00 war bond will be awarded to the person who follows the rules and whose slogan shows the most originality and aptness of thought. You need not be a resident of Sedalia, the committee states, everyone is eligible, the only exception being the Chamber of Commerce employees and the publicity committee members.

Judging will be done by a committee which will be announced later in the week.

You are asked to clip out this entry blank, fill it in and take or send it to the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Sedalia. You may send in as many slogans as you can think of and if you need additional entry blanks, they are available in any quantity at the Chamber of Commerce office, 112 West Fourth street, the committee states.

The winning slogan becomes the property of every Missouri citizen to be used in connection with the United States Air Academy project.

RULES

1. Fill in entry blank properly.
2. Slogan must be original.
3. Should be 10 words or less. (The shorter the better.)
4. Post marked not later than midnight of January 31.

ENTRY BLANK

In the event of duplications, the first entry received will become the winner.

An example: "Pave the Way for the U.S.A.A.," submitted by the committee.

CHURCH NEWS

The Cheerful Workers class of the Cumberland Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Gwinn, 1908 South Park avenue Wednesday January 18, for an all day meeting. The morning was spent embroidering tea towels. At noon a luncheon was served to which all contributed.

The business session was conducted by the class president and the devotional was led by Mrs. E. M. Keithley. Plans for the year was discussed and the remainder of the year were discussed and the remainder of the day was spent working on comforts for the Bona Vista home.

The February meeting will be held at the home of the class leader, Mrs. E. S. Brummett, 1701 South Harrison avenue. The following officers have been elected for the year Mrs. J. H. Gwinn, president, Mrs. E. M. Keithley, vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Sutherland, secretary-treasurer.

The following members and friends were present: Mrs. E. S. Brummett, Mrs. O. L. Johnson, Mrs. Mary Bond, Mrs. Fern Danley, Mrs. R. J. Handley, Mrs. J. L. Sutherland, Mrs. E. M. Keithley, Mrs. L. Kiele and grandchildren, Sharon, Frankie, and Dixie, Mrs. V. A. Wigton, Mrs. N. H. Wehmeier, Mrs. H. H. Gwinn and Roy, Mrs. J. H. Gwinn.

Dance Swells March Of Dimes

A thousand dollars, representing ticket sales and cash taken in at the door was expected to be cleared from the polio benefit dance, which was attended by a large crowd, Saturday night at the Convention Hall, Liberty Park.

The dance was sponsored by the Sedalia Federated Shop Crafts and Sedalia Federation of Labor. All the money made from the dance will be turned over to the polio fund. Lee Brandt's orchestra furnished the dancing music.

James E. Durlay, campaign director for the Pettis county chapter of National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said school cards will be passed out the first of the week to public and parochial schools in Sedalia. Frank Coffman, Jr., will be in charge of school collections.

This coming Saturday night, another benefit dance will be held at the Sedalia Moose Lodge with Harry Trotman's orchestra furnishing the music. This dance will be open to the public, free of charge, but a donation will be taken during the dance.

Marriage Licenses Issued
Ralph George O'Donnell, Ruth Waggoner Lane, both of Jefferson City.

George Albert Clemens, Julia Alice Goode, both of Marshall.

Kenneth Keith Clark and Helen Elaine Bellamy, both of Sedalia.

OBITUARIES

John Henry Johnson
John Henry Johnson, aged 80 years, passed away at the home of his daughter, Miss Edna Johnson, in Calhoun, at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, January 21, after an illness of two months having taken ill on his birthday anniversary.

Cage Thriller Planned For S-C

Preparations for the Smith-Cotton Faculty and Williams' Five Stars basketball game, which is to be played February 8, are now under way. Proceeds from the game will go for the new stage curtains and scenery fund. Advance ticket sales are under way. Tickets may be purchased from any of the Five Stars.

Last year the Five Stars defeated the Faculty by a close score. That game was played for an assembly and was filled with thrills. Members of the Stars are as follows: Myron Herrick, Dale Whitfield, Don Dowdy, Art Conley, Bill Wheeler, Bill Berry, Don Decker, Bob Rosenquist, Gene Dowdy, and Gene Williams. The Faculty will be loaded with former college stars such as Coaches Jim Ball, Howard Glavin and teachers Ralph Bowers, John Allen, James Atkins, Emerson Matthews, and Principle Joe Benson.

The Stars are regretful that they will not be able to play against football coach Ralph Dow, who has to be out of town that night to referee a basketball game.

A $90,000 Fire Loss At Lincoln, Friday Morning

Two buildings and contents were completely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin, at Lincoln, Missouri, 27 miles south of Sedalia on Highway 65 early Friday morning. The losses were estimated at $75,000 to the brick building and contents of Producers Exchange No. 84, M.F.A. and $14,000 by Sam Thomas owner of a frame garage building which was just west of the Producers. The west and north walls of the brick building fell over while the front and a large portion of the east walls remained standing, but will have to be torn down due to the damage from the intense heat. The Thomas garage was located to the left of the Producers and all that was left was a gasoline pump seen in the picture and it was damaged. Thomas had no insurance to cover his losses while the Producers had about seventy-five percent coverage. (Photo by M. N. White, Benton County Guide.)

"Schoolmates Overseas" is the 1950 Girl Scout international service project. It calls for the making and filling of schoolbags to be shipped overseas for both girls and boys.

The project was announced at the convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts of the United States of America held last November in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Phillip McLaughlin, Chairman of the Program Committee of Girl Scouts of Sedalia, says it is expected that all local troops will wish to share in this adventure into the realm of international friendship. It has been pointed out, Mrs. McLaughlin explains that girls and boys overseas often must go to school lacking even such simple equipment as pencils, notebooks, crayons, etc., all of which are taken for granted by children of this country.

Leaflet Available
A four page leaflet will be available shortly from the National Girl Scout Program Dept., that outlines the project more thoroughly. One will be given to each troop leader.

We have been supplied with the names of several agencies through which the bags may be shipped when completed.

Perhaps it would be a good idea to make the date March 12, 1950, the Girl Scout birthday, as the time when the first shipment might be made from Sedalia.

Friendship and concern for others is the heart of Girl Scouting.

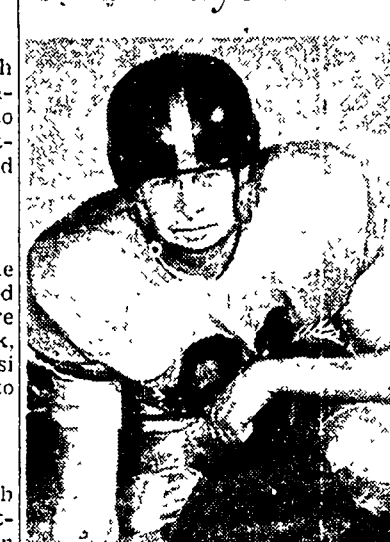

The senior Girl Scouts of Sedalia, were represented at a Senior Planning Board Conference in St. Joseph, Missouri, this week by Cynthia Mynatt, troop 19, Cotton High School, and Charlotte Weimann, troop 13, Sacred Heart High School, Mrs. John C. McCandles, a leader of troop 13, chaperone for the Sedalia representatives on their trip.

Investiture Ceremony
Brownie troop No. 68 Whittier school held an investiture ceremony Thursday afternoon to welcome the 15th member to their troop, Joyce Le Begue. Mrs. John L. Bowman, troop leader, was in charge of the ceremony, and took occasion to entertain the Brownies with a party, delayed from the holidays because of weather conditions.

Joyce told the other Brownies at the Fairy Pool, why she wanted to be a Brownie. Mrs. Bowman served refreshments to the group and presented each girl with a favor.

Takes Boys With Air Rifle To Police

Two juveniles who went hunting with their air rifles, found "big game," Saturday evening, which resulted in the driver of the 1950 Dodge automobile, Mrs. Claude Cooper of Houstonia, stopping her car and making the boys go to police headquarters.

The two lads were beside the road and ever so often would take a shot with the air rifle at something, a tree, telephone pole, bird, but their ambition proved too much when a shiny new car came rolling along and a shot struck the windshield and knocked a hole in it.

Mrs. Cooper, stopped her car and talked to the boys and then told them to get into the car and go with her to police headquarters. There she made her report and turned the boys over to the police. Ceck Glenn, juvenile officer, could not be contacted so the police kept the air rifle and took the boys home and talked with their parents.

According to the police the parents stated they would contact Mrs. Cooper and take care of the damage to her automobile.

Sacred-Heart Won And Lost At Green Ridge

"A" Team Loses 38-41 While "B" Squad Won 28-16, Friday

The Sacred Heart basketball team split with the Green Ridge high school basketballers, Friday night in tilts played at the new auditorium at Green Ridge. The Gremlins lost in an overtime tussle by a score of 41 to 38 while the S-H "B" boys won their contest by a 28 to 16 score.

The S-H girls dropped a volleyball game to the Green Ridge girls by a 20 to 32 score. Ryan was high pointer for Sacred-Heart, chalking up 7 points, while Johnson of Green Ridge tallied 8 points to lead her teammates.

Trailing by two points with a minute and half to play, Jim Fall tied the count at 33 all for the Gremlins and then tossed in a free throw to take a 34 to 33 lead with 15 seconds left to play. A foul called on Paxton and Riecke, who was high scorer for the night, tied the game with a free throw toss at 34 all to send the game into the overtime.

Captain Jerry Labus was ejected from the game in the first quarter for excessive fouling, which hurt the chances of the Sedalia team, as Labus was one of the leading scorers. The Gremlins trailed at half time 18 to 15.

Second Loss To Victors
It was the second time that Green Ridge has defeated the Sacred Heart team in the last few minutes of the game. Riecke was high scorer for Green Ridge with 17 points, closely followed by Brown with 13. For the Gremlins, Hodges and Fall were high with 7 points.

The "B" game found Fall leading the scoring with 8 points, closely followed by Ryan with 6. This game was well played and Sacred Heart led from the start to the finish.

Friday night, at the Sacred Heart gym, the Gremlins will play Hughesville Wildcats and the "B" teams of the two schools will also play. The Hughesville cagers, one of the best teams in the conference, defeated the Gremlins in the Cole Camp tournament last week.

Additional Society

S-C Tigers Beat The Jays In Cage Meet

Tuesday Night
Tigers Play
At Marshall

The Smith-Cotton high school basketball team won an easy victory over the Jefferson City cagers Friday night in Jefferson City. This was the second conference game the Tigers have won from the Jays, and the third defeat the Sedalia boys have handed the Capital City boys this season.

Coach Jim Ball used the starting five nearly all through the game to give the first stringers practice for their coming games. He only sent in one substitute during the entire contest and that was Bill Morgan. The Jays' coach left in the first stringers most of the time.

Tigers Dominate Game

The Tigers took the lead from the start and never were topped all through the game. The Sedalia boys chalked up a 15 to 4 lead at the end of the first period and were leading 22 to 16 when the half ended. In the final half the Tigers got warmed up and did most of their scoring. They led 42 to 22 going into the last quarter and tallied 18 points in that frame.

Walker scored 13 of his 15 points in the second half. Ruffin scored 11 of his 13 points and Holst scored 9 of his 16 tallies, also in the second half.

Smith-Cotton tried to fast break in the second quarter and only scored seven points, while in the third quarter, the team set up off a slow break for 20 points.

High Scores
Holst, with 18 points, Walker 15, and Ruffin 14, were high pointers for S-C while Hauser 12, Callis 5, and Casteel 5, took the scoring honors for the Jays.

Graham and Decker of Columbia were the officials.

Tuesday night, the Tigers will play Marshall for the second time this season. The local cagers downed Marshall December 13 by a 43 to 20 score. In that meet, Marshall played without the support of Huston Bell, star forward, who was out of the line-up due to illness. In the coming tilt, Dale Ruffin will get the nod on the defensive job on Bell, Coach Ball said. At the same time, the Tiger coach said, Bill Holst will be busy with 6'2" Landreth on the post position.

A "B" game will precede the varsity game, starting at 7:00 o'clock.

Dorothy Dean Is Bride of Edward Fagot

At a nuptial mass at Sacred Heart church, at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, Miss Dorothy Agnes Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frederick Dean, 1401 West Broadway, became the bride of Mr. Edward Joseph Fagot, of Lafayette, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius L. Fagot, Sr., of New Orleans, La. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor of Sacred Heart, the Rev. Father Andrew J. Brunswick.

Bouquets of pink and white snapdragons, mums and gladioli banked the center altar, and clusters of the same flowers were used on the pews along the aisles. Smilax and palms were banked around the sanctuary and along the communion railing.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by a college friend, Miss Sara Maynard, of Tupelo, Miss., as maid of honor, Miss Lorraine Fagot, the bridegroom's sister, of New Orleans and Miss Marie Fleming, of Columbia, Ga., also a college friend, as bridesmaids.

Mr. Fagot's best man was Mr. Richard Dean, brother of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Raymond Fagot, the bridegroom's brother, New Orleans, Mr. William J. Schneider, Jr., Mr. E. V. Schneider, of Hannibal, the bride's cousins, Mr. Wm. P. Hurley, Sedalia, the bride's Godfather and Mr. Robert S. Johnson, Sedalia.

Mrs. E. F. Paxton, organist, played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus as a processional, Mendelssohn's Wedding March as a recessional, the Regina Pacis mass and Panis Angelicus during the Communion. Solos, "Mother Beloved" and "Ave Marie" will be sung by William Whittington.

For her wedding gown the bride chose an ivory white slipper satin, fashioned with fitted basque and deep sweetheart neckline, tight fitting sleeves, ending at a point over the hand. The train of heirloom lace was worn by the bride's mother. A Juliet cap and short circular veil were also made of the same lace. She carried an heirloom rosary used by the brides in the Fagot family for generations.

Miss Maynard wore a violet net gown, designed with a basque bodice, buffet skirt and matching stole and head-dress. Her dress and hat were trimmed with French blue velvet ribbon, and the shower bouquet she carried was of pale pink roses tied with matching ribbon. Miss Fagot and Miss Fleming wore gowns and hats fashioned as that worn by Miss Maynard, but of pink net trimmed with violet velvet ribbon, and their shower bouquets of red roses were tied with matching violet ribbon.

Mrs. Dean, the bride's mother, wore a costume of Barclay blue silk, the dress and jacket trimmed with matching Alencon lace. Her brown felt turban was draped with dotted veiling, which repeated the dress color. With the costume she wore a brown orchid, brown gloves and accessories.

Mrs. Fagot, the bridegroom's mother, wore gray and her flower was a lavender orchid. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the Sedalia Country club, four hundred guests attending. The club rooms were decorated in pink and white flowers, smilax and palms, and candles. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and a silver candelabra on either side.

The couple left later, from the bride's home, for a wedding trip in the south. Mrs. Fagot wearing a dusty pink gabardine spring suit with brown accessories and a corsage of brown orchids. They will be at home after February 1, at 113 Campbell street, Lafayette, La.

The bride, born and reared in Sedalia, was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school in 1944, attended Maryville College of the Sacred Heart, in St. Louis and was graduated from Loyola university of the South, in New Orleans in 1948, attended Duke and Spencervian Business College in Cleveland. While in New Orleans she did social research work for Loyola University, and since returning to Sedalia has been employed by the Sedalia Board of Education, as a teacher.

Mr. Fagot was graduated from Loyola University of the South New Orleans, in 1942, served with the cavalry during World War II, returned to Loyola to work on a degree in business which he received in 1948. He is a member of ABA National Catholic fraternity, of the Knights of Columbus, and holds the position of office manager for L. A. Fry and Sons meat packing plant in Lafayette, La.

Out of town guests here for the wedding and reception were:

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pugh, Mrs. Rex Taggart, Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grady, all of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rinklin, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Griffin, all of Jefferson City; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Keiffer, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Ahrens, Warsaw; Mrs. M. C. Willet, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius L. Fagot, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schneider, Mr. Thomas Schneider, Hannibal; Mrs. Frank Stephens, Cleveland.

Rev. W. N. Sachs Performs Ring Ceremony

Beneath a bridal arch entwined with branches of lemon leaves on either side of which were two seven branch candelabra holding lighted white tapers and large baskets of white pompon chrysanthemums, pink roses, snapdragon and white lilies. Miss Barbara Ann Acree, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George Acree, 1824 East Broadway, became the bride of Mr. Emmett Aaron Wilcox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilcox, of Beaman. The marriage took place in the First Assembly of God church, of which the bride's father is pastor, and the double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. W. N. Sachs, of Versailles.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Clarence Hickman, 1105 East Sixth street, at the piano, played: "I Love You Truly" and accompanied Mrs. James R. Harvey, 1814 East Broadway, who sang "Because" and "Always." Mrs. Hickman also played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner, as the processional.

The bride, whose father gave her in marriage, selected for her wedding a suit of navy blue gabardine with which she wore matching accessories and her corsage was of white rosebuds and pink carnations.

Mrs. Carroll Wilcox, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Mrs. Wilcox wore a gabardine suit of deep wine shade and her corsage was of white gladioli.

Mr. Carroll Wilcox, 604 South Lamine avenue, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Ushers were Mr. Harry Baldwin, of LaMonte and Mr. Orvil Lee Henderson, 1411 South Quincy avenue.

The candles were lighted just before the service by Miss Betty Stroup, 670 East Fourteenth street, cousin of the bridegroom and Mr. Vernon Wilcox, of Beaman, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother was attired in a dark brown costume suit with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a gown of navy crepe with matching accessories. Both wore shoulder corsages of white gladioli.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1824 East Broadway following the ceremony, at which there were 30 guests. The dining table was covered with a lace table cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake encircled with ferns and red roses.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Stevens, of Smithville, Mo., Donald L. Stevens, Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Nichols, of Kansas City and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Cossey, Kansas City, Kas.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Pueblo, Colo., after which they will return to Sedalia and will reside at 604 South Lamine avenue.

The bride is employed in the office of Rosenthal's store.

The bridegroom is employed in the Missouri Pacific ticket office.
